Mike White,

Hey, how has life been for ya, Oh mine has been just great. It was really fun at the begining of the year when I went w/ you. When my gf died I just changed. He was my favorite gf and I loved him more than anything. Sorry for the way I acted. I acted dumb, stupid and just plain immature (sp.) I still do like you a lot, but we could never have a boyfriend, girlfriend relationship again. Well I gotta go.

Have a great Summer

Looking Forward To Looking Back

Remember the football games on Friday nights where you practically froze cheering for the Eagle's team? Remember the first day of school and how nervous you were as a sophomore? And staying up all night to finish that term paper you had known about for three months? Or when you blew up a lab in chemistry class? And of course, one can't forget racing down High Point Road to get to class on time after lunch — and not making it. Some of us will reminisce about the night of the prom at Bryan Park. Others will remember playing in a Smith tennis match until you were so tired you thought you would have to crawl off the court. Still, others will remember the crowded hallways, meeting friends in the courtyard, the bathrooms without toliet paper, and the "spirit booster seminars." These were our days as Eagles.

Nostalgia is truly wonderful. Twenty years from now, we will look back upon our golden days as Eagles and remember fondly all the wonderful times we had here at Ben L. Smith. Memories are sometimes better than the actual events because we remember primarily the good parts that make us laugh and smile. We take the best of our years at Smith, like making Homecoming Court, Awards Day, and Graduation, and forget the few times that are better left forgotten, such as when Mr. Higgins caught you in the hall kissing your girlfriend or a heartbreaking loss to Page in a football game.

Memories keep us safe in later years. When we feel depressed or a little down, all we have to do is think of the glory days at our Alma Mater, and a smile will immediately come over our faces. With years like that of 1987-1988, who wouldn't smile? It will be wonderful to look back upon our cherished memories, pull out an old annual, and look at pictures of ourselves standing there looking out-of-date in ridiculous mini-skirts and Reeboks.

We are ready now to move forward, to look forward to looking back, but it will be even better years from now. Our days as Golden Eagles are precious and few, and when we do remember them, they will be cherished and special. Every year, classes of Eagles graduate and leave Smith; however, the memories of Smith never leave Eagles.

Right now we are still living what we will soon be remembering, but yes, we are Looking Forward To Looking Back.

WHEN I THINK OF HOME ...

1965 Homecoming! At last we were a year old and could celebrate the festivities traditional to all alma maters! The night of the homecoming game tense excitement filled the air...1987 Homecoming! At last the Silver Anniversary of Ben L. Smith High School has arrived. After twenty-five years, the tradition continues. Not any less excited than the first participants so long ago, the lines of homecoming class representatives met at the 50 yard line anticipating the outcome of the night's events. Waiting along with the class representatives, Smith's proud club representatives shared in the honor and exhibited the growth of our school over the past twenty-five years. What a night! What a wonderful feeling to come HOME.

Eager homecoming participants await festivities.

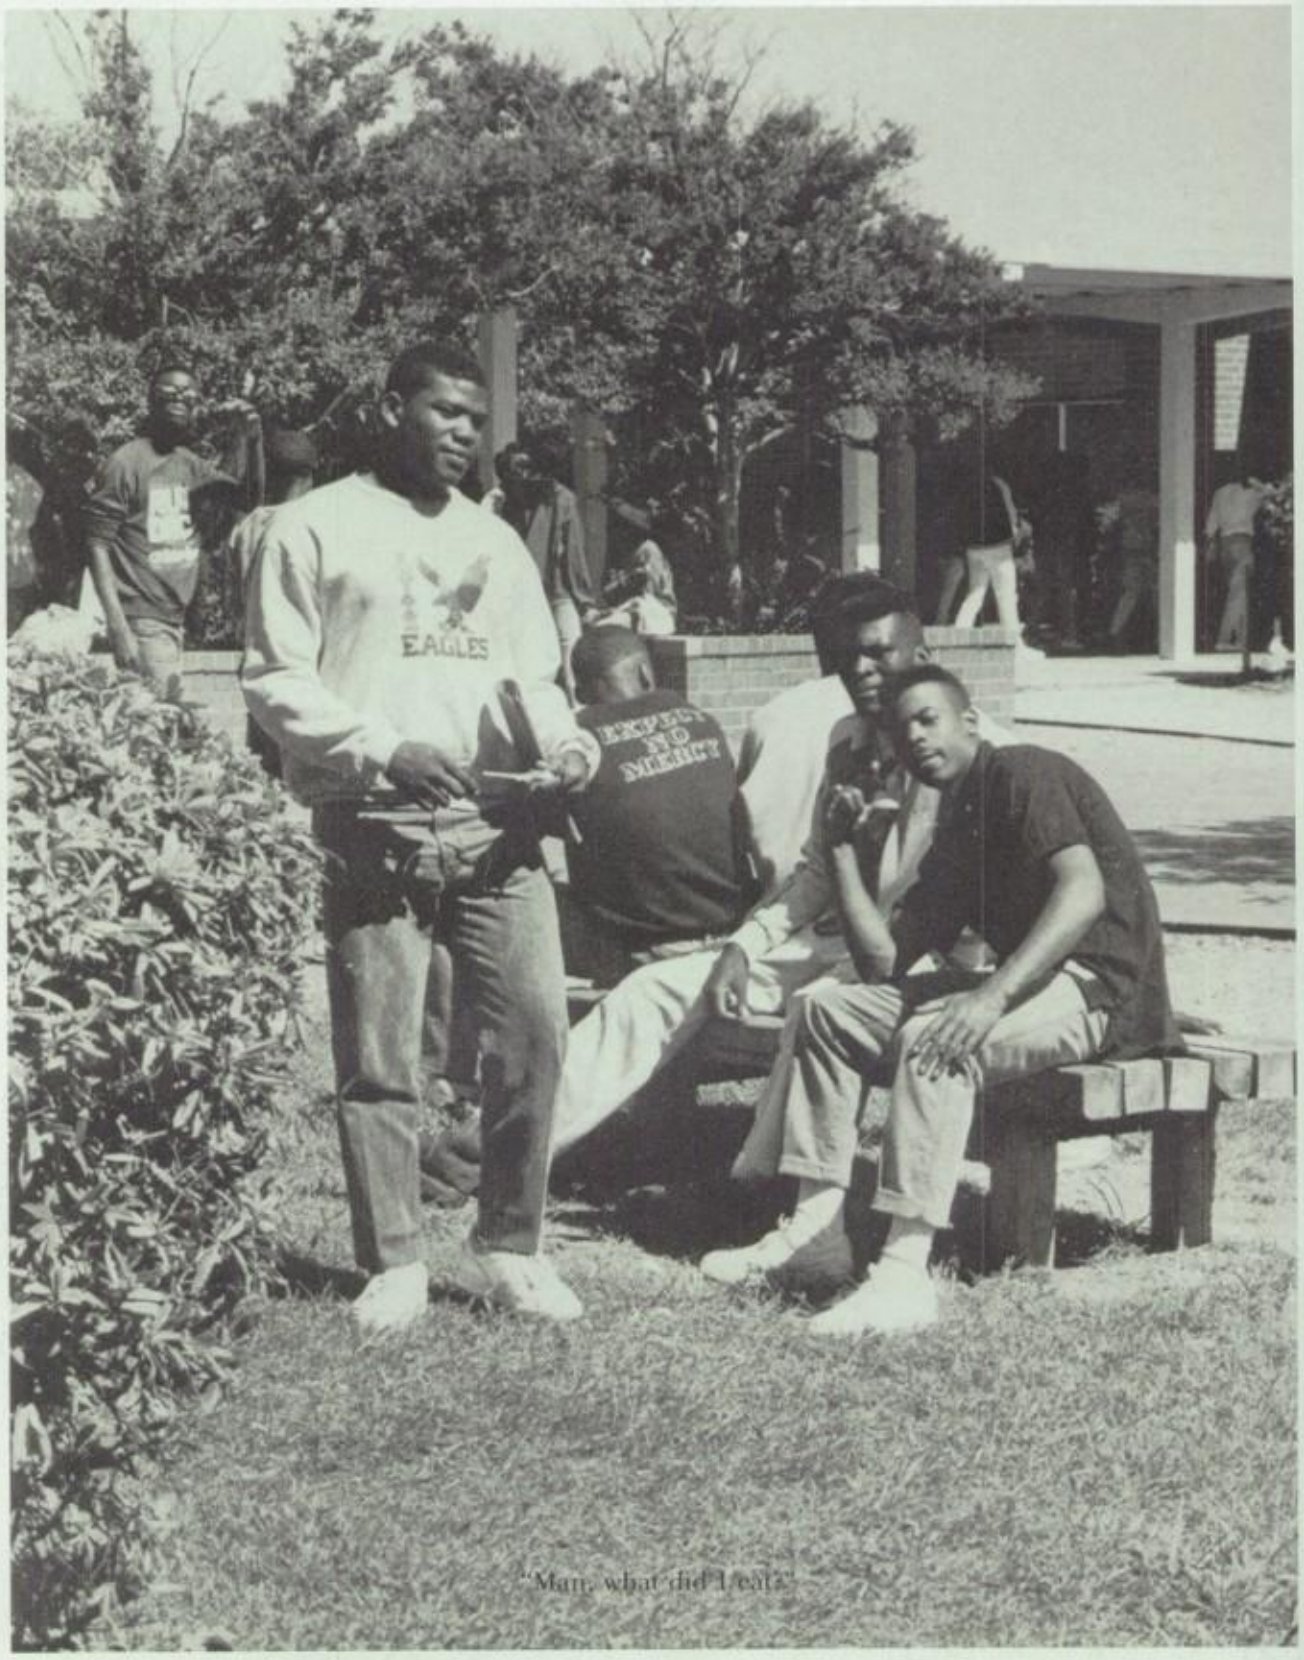
SIX MINUTES BETWEEN CLASSES

Six minutes can seem like an eternity in the wrong place — history class for example, in the middle of a lecture. Yet, Smith students battle their way to classes among 1,700 other Eagles who are just as rushed and busy as they are. Those six minutes are so precious, and they come so few and far between. Eagles use class change time for countless activities: the obvious things, such as getting books from lockers, using the bathrooms, and of course rushing to class. There are always those who use the six minutes to finish up last night's homework that is due next period, walk his sweetheart to class, or catch up on the latest gossip with friends. Whatever Eagles use it for, it's always interesting to see the halls about fifteen seconds before the tardy bell rings. Usually still crowded, the pace begins to pick up as students walk faster. Ten seconds to go, and a few start running. Those last few seconds and an innocent bystander could see last second kisses, a yell down the hall to meet at McDonald's for lunch, and a mad dash for class. Although those six minutes are short, they are to many the best part of the day at Smith High School.



"Man, what did I eat?"

Wendy Thompson finishes up last night's homework.

Freshmen share first day experiences between classes.

Phys[illegible] Sci[illegible] can be fun!

For the twenty-fifth anniversary of Ben L. Smith High School, we are looking forward to the future and seeing the reflections of what has gone before.

Since its opening in 1963, the tradition of excellence has been upheld by the dependable members of the staff and the enthusiastic student body. The clubs and the athletic teams have always been very closely bonded. Everyone is willing to help a friend out in his time of need. Even though our athletic teams do not always win, they learn the most important lesson — how to trust each other and work together as a team.

At Smith a person can be who he really is and not be ashamed of himself. Instead of someone being liked because of his monetary status or the color of his skin, he is judged on his character and that alone is what has always set Smith High School above all other city schools.

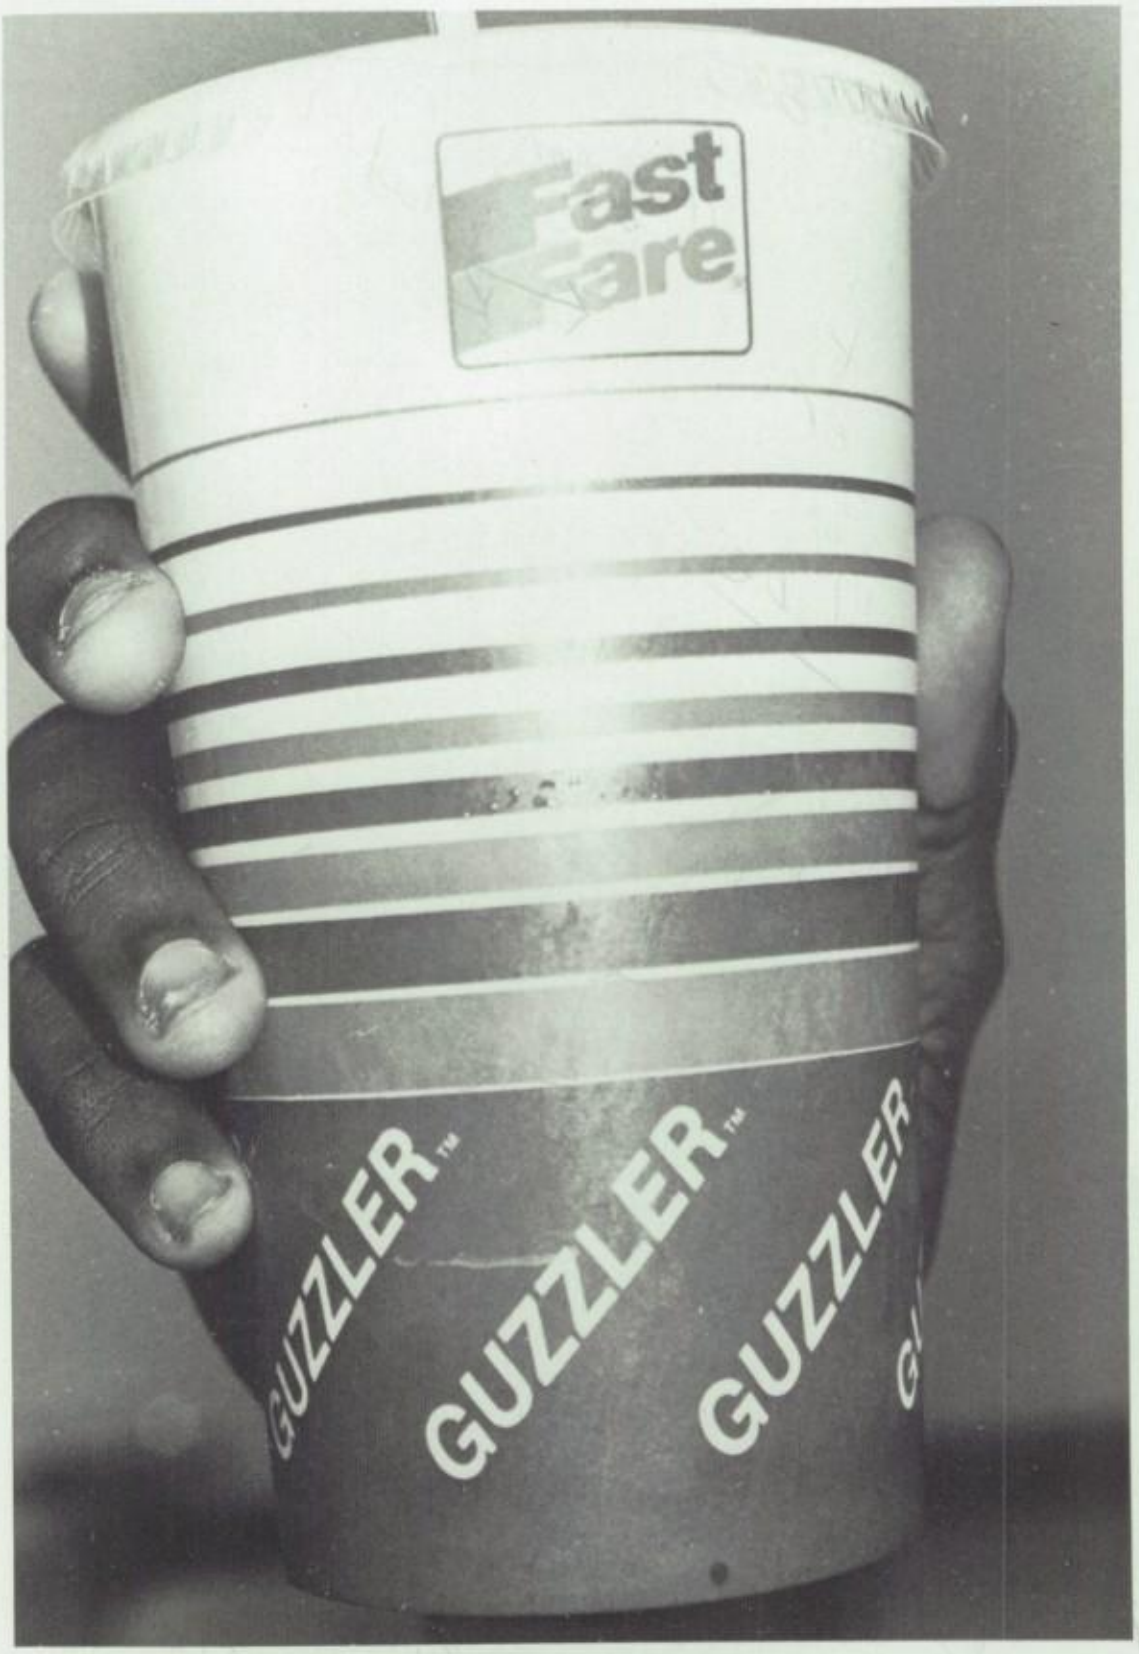
45 MINUTES OF FREEDOM

This means chow-time!

Food! Grub! Chow! No matter what you call it, we all do it - EAT! Hamburgers, pizzas, and candy are some of our favorites. Some of the most popular spots to go for lunch are Burger King and McDonald's. There's nothing like a big juicy burger with pickles and cheese to satisfy a hungry appetite. And, what better to calm one's frazzled nerves after an Algebra test than a tall, cool milkshake? Sometimes when there's no money, home is the best place for food. The menu at home is as varied as the food items you find. Basically students eat whatever they can find. The food eaten at home ranges from peanut butter and jelly sandwiches, and potato chips, to an old pizza that has been laying around.



If you have no wheels, a quick jog over to Fast Fare satisfies an incredible thirst.

Scot Gleason really holds onto his burger for that first big bite.

Some of us must resort to the cafeteria for "food?"

What would we do without candy? Cathy Koch rescues a starving student.

Some hungry students have already ordered while others must suffer the wait.

Garr Wall escapes school "food" for some delicious McDonald's fries.

A big sip of Dr. Pepper is all Angie Carchetti needs to keep her going.

EAGLES' NIGHT OUT

These students agree Eagles are #1 and so is Four Seasons Town Center.

What's in the bag Barbara?

Tim, Travis, and Scot looking for trouble at the mall.

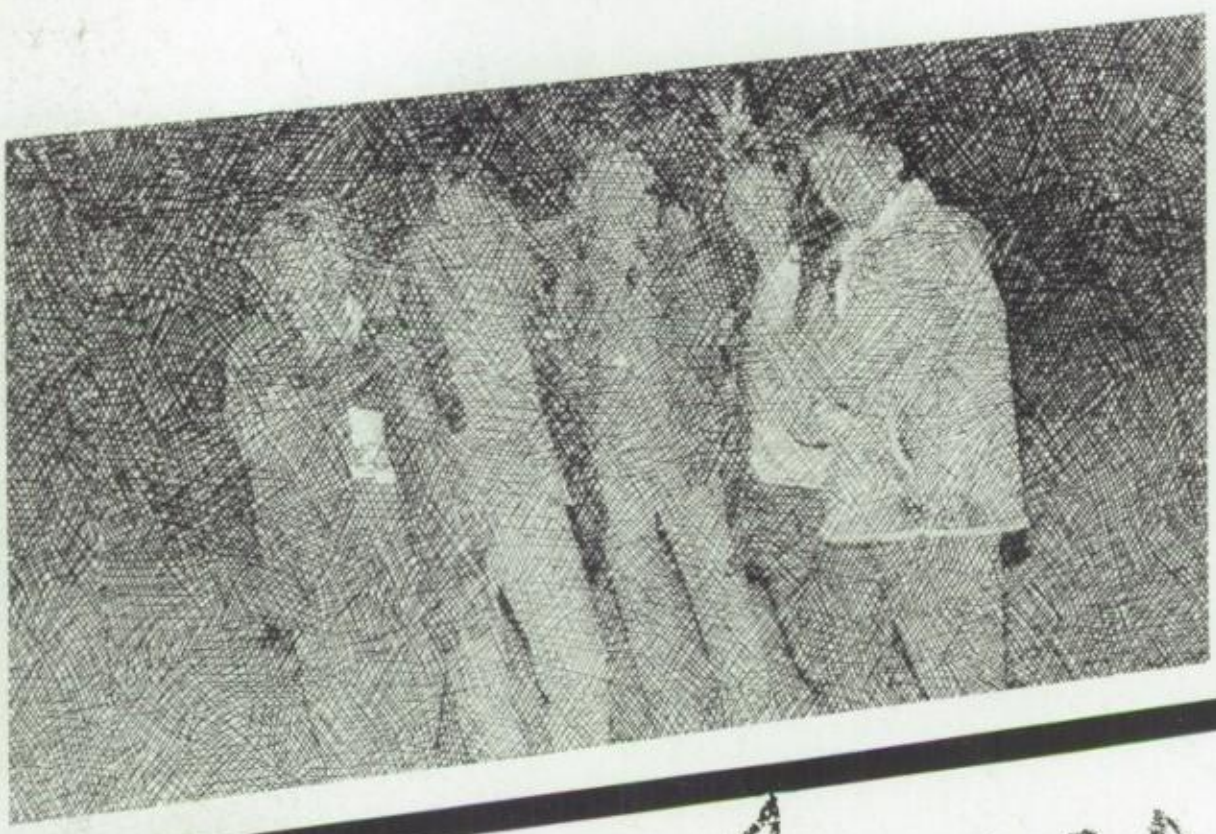
Bruce, Derrick, and associate look for some grub.

Jeanine and Steve enjoy each other's company at the mall.

What are you smiling for John Scott?

Sherrie and Jeanelle, a Dudley student, prove schools can mix.

The mecca of the Eagles' night life.



FACES: Ben L. Smith High School is made up of faces from all races, ages, and nationalities. Different hair, clothes, and especially personalities combine to form one flock of full-fledged flying Eagles.

In these next pages, Smith students were captured on good and bad days in happy and sad moods. Glasses and braces may be seen here and may be laughed about in years to come as a student takes time out to remember how things were.

Seniors, in blazing color, begin our memory book. A real Senior gets to school three seconds before the bell rings, and calls teachers by their first names. A Junior is one epoch closer to greatness, trying desperately to look like a Senior, act like a Senior, and hang-out with a Senior. Sophomores are in the middle, picking on the Freshman, sneaking off campus for lunch, and still feeling the wrath of giant upperclassmen. Freshman are just coming out of the cold, learning what food to eat in the cafeteria, how to really get upstairs, and how not to get lost, learning more or less-survival.

Each and every face pictured here are faces to be remembered; faces on which we look forward to looking back.

THIS
CLASS OF 1988

We the Seniors wish to dedicate to the future graduates of Ben L. Smith High School all the experiences and memories that built and contributed to our characters and personalities. We pass on the trials which are universal to us all: first dates, first break-ups, first proms, and first loves. We leave you pages of our diaries which chronicle our time here at Smith. We also leave to you the warmth of new friendships, the respect fostered in student teacher relationships, and the spirit that surrounds our sports events and cultural performances. Over the twelve years of our educational life, we have come to realize that our existence here is based on more than just ourselves; it is the teachers, the school, every friend and every foe working together and creating a family with whom we have grown and learned to love. It is this family which is the essense of our Eagle pride. We carry it with us, and we cherish it. We will remember the path we have come, and we dream of the path before us now. Although it is never easy to say goodbye, we leave with smiling faces and cheering crowds, the grace of individuality and the spirit of a new beginning.

CLASS OF 89

WHAT IS A SOPHOMORE?

I like being a sophomore because that means I'm one step closer to being a senior and graduating from high school. I also like it because next year I can get my license, and I can drive to school and leave campus for lunch. Plus, I don't feel quite as small as I did last year.

-Tara Stewart

Being a sophomore is fun because I don't have to say I'm a freshman anymore. Also, I know next year I will be driving and going off campus. And in two years, I'll be graduating! I enjoy Smith because I know the people and the campus. Next year, I'll remember where I am and how far I have come. The most memorable year will be my sophomore year!

FRESHMEN FIT IN

"Down the hall, take a right, and you can't miss it." That's one of the most popular lines freshmen hear at the beginning of the year when asking for directions to a room they're standing beside. Every once and a while, one might hear, "That'll be two dollars if you want to take the elevator." After about one day though, upperclassmen realized they weren't going to get these baby Eagles down.

At the beginning of the year, freshmen are most worried about getting to class on time. And understandably so; it is a big jump from a middle school with 1,000 students to Smith with over 1,800 students and a campus twice as large. Yet, freshmen always manage very well, and they can usually get to class before a senior does.

Another big worry freshmen have is if they look okay. Everyone wants to be accepted. Everyone wants to be popular and have friends. Freshmen wonder if they are wearing the right clothes. They wonder if they are acting the right way, and if they should go up and talk to that junior.

Although this was the second year that ninth graders have been a part of Smith High School life, the idea and practice are still relatively new. Nevertheless, all Eagles fit in somewhere, including freshmen.

The Freshmen at Ben L. Smith Senior High School signify a new beginning every year. New faces enter the old halls to bring fresh prospects to the school. In the next four years their accomplishments, failures, and triumphs will be etched not only in the pages of the Smith yearbook but in the memories of each individual student.

This is only the second Freshman class in the 25 year history of Smith. These students will set a precedent for years to come and their accomplishments will be compared to rising Freshmen. These pages will show a "first draft" of the future. Some of the ninth graders are a little bit rough around the edges, but it is the intention of Ben L. Smith to mold these young minds into full fledged Eagles.

FRESHMEN TAKING CHARGE

There were two Freshmen at Smith this year who played leading rolls on the Boys' Soccer team. They are Tre Spinks and Steven Bryant. Both Tre and Steven have been playing soccer for quite some time; Tre has played for nine years and Steven has played for ten. When asked if he got treated differently by other members of the soccer team because he is a Freshman, Steven said no he didn't. On the other hand, Tre feels he is treated differently because Freshman are made to carry the balls and equipment to and from practice and the games.

As we know Football has the highest participation of any sport at Smith. Tre feels that more people need to get involved in and support other sports.

Both Tre Spinks and Steven Bryant are promising soccer players who have demonstrated leadership ability. Watching these young Eagles grow is a spectacle to which we look forward.

Steven Bryant and Tre Spinks.

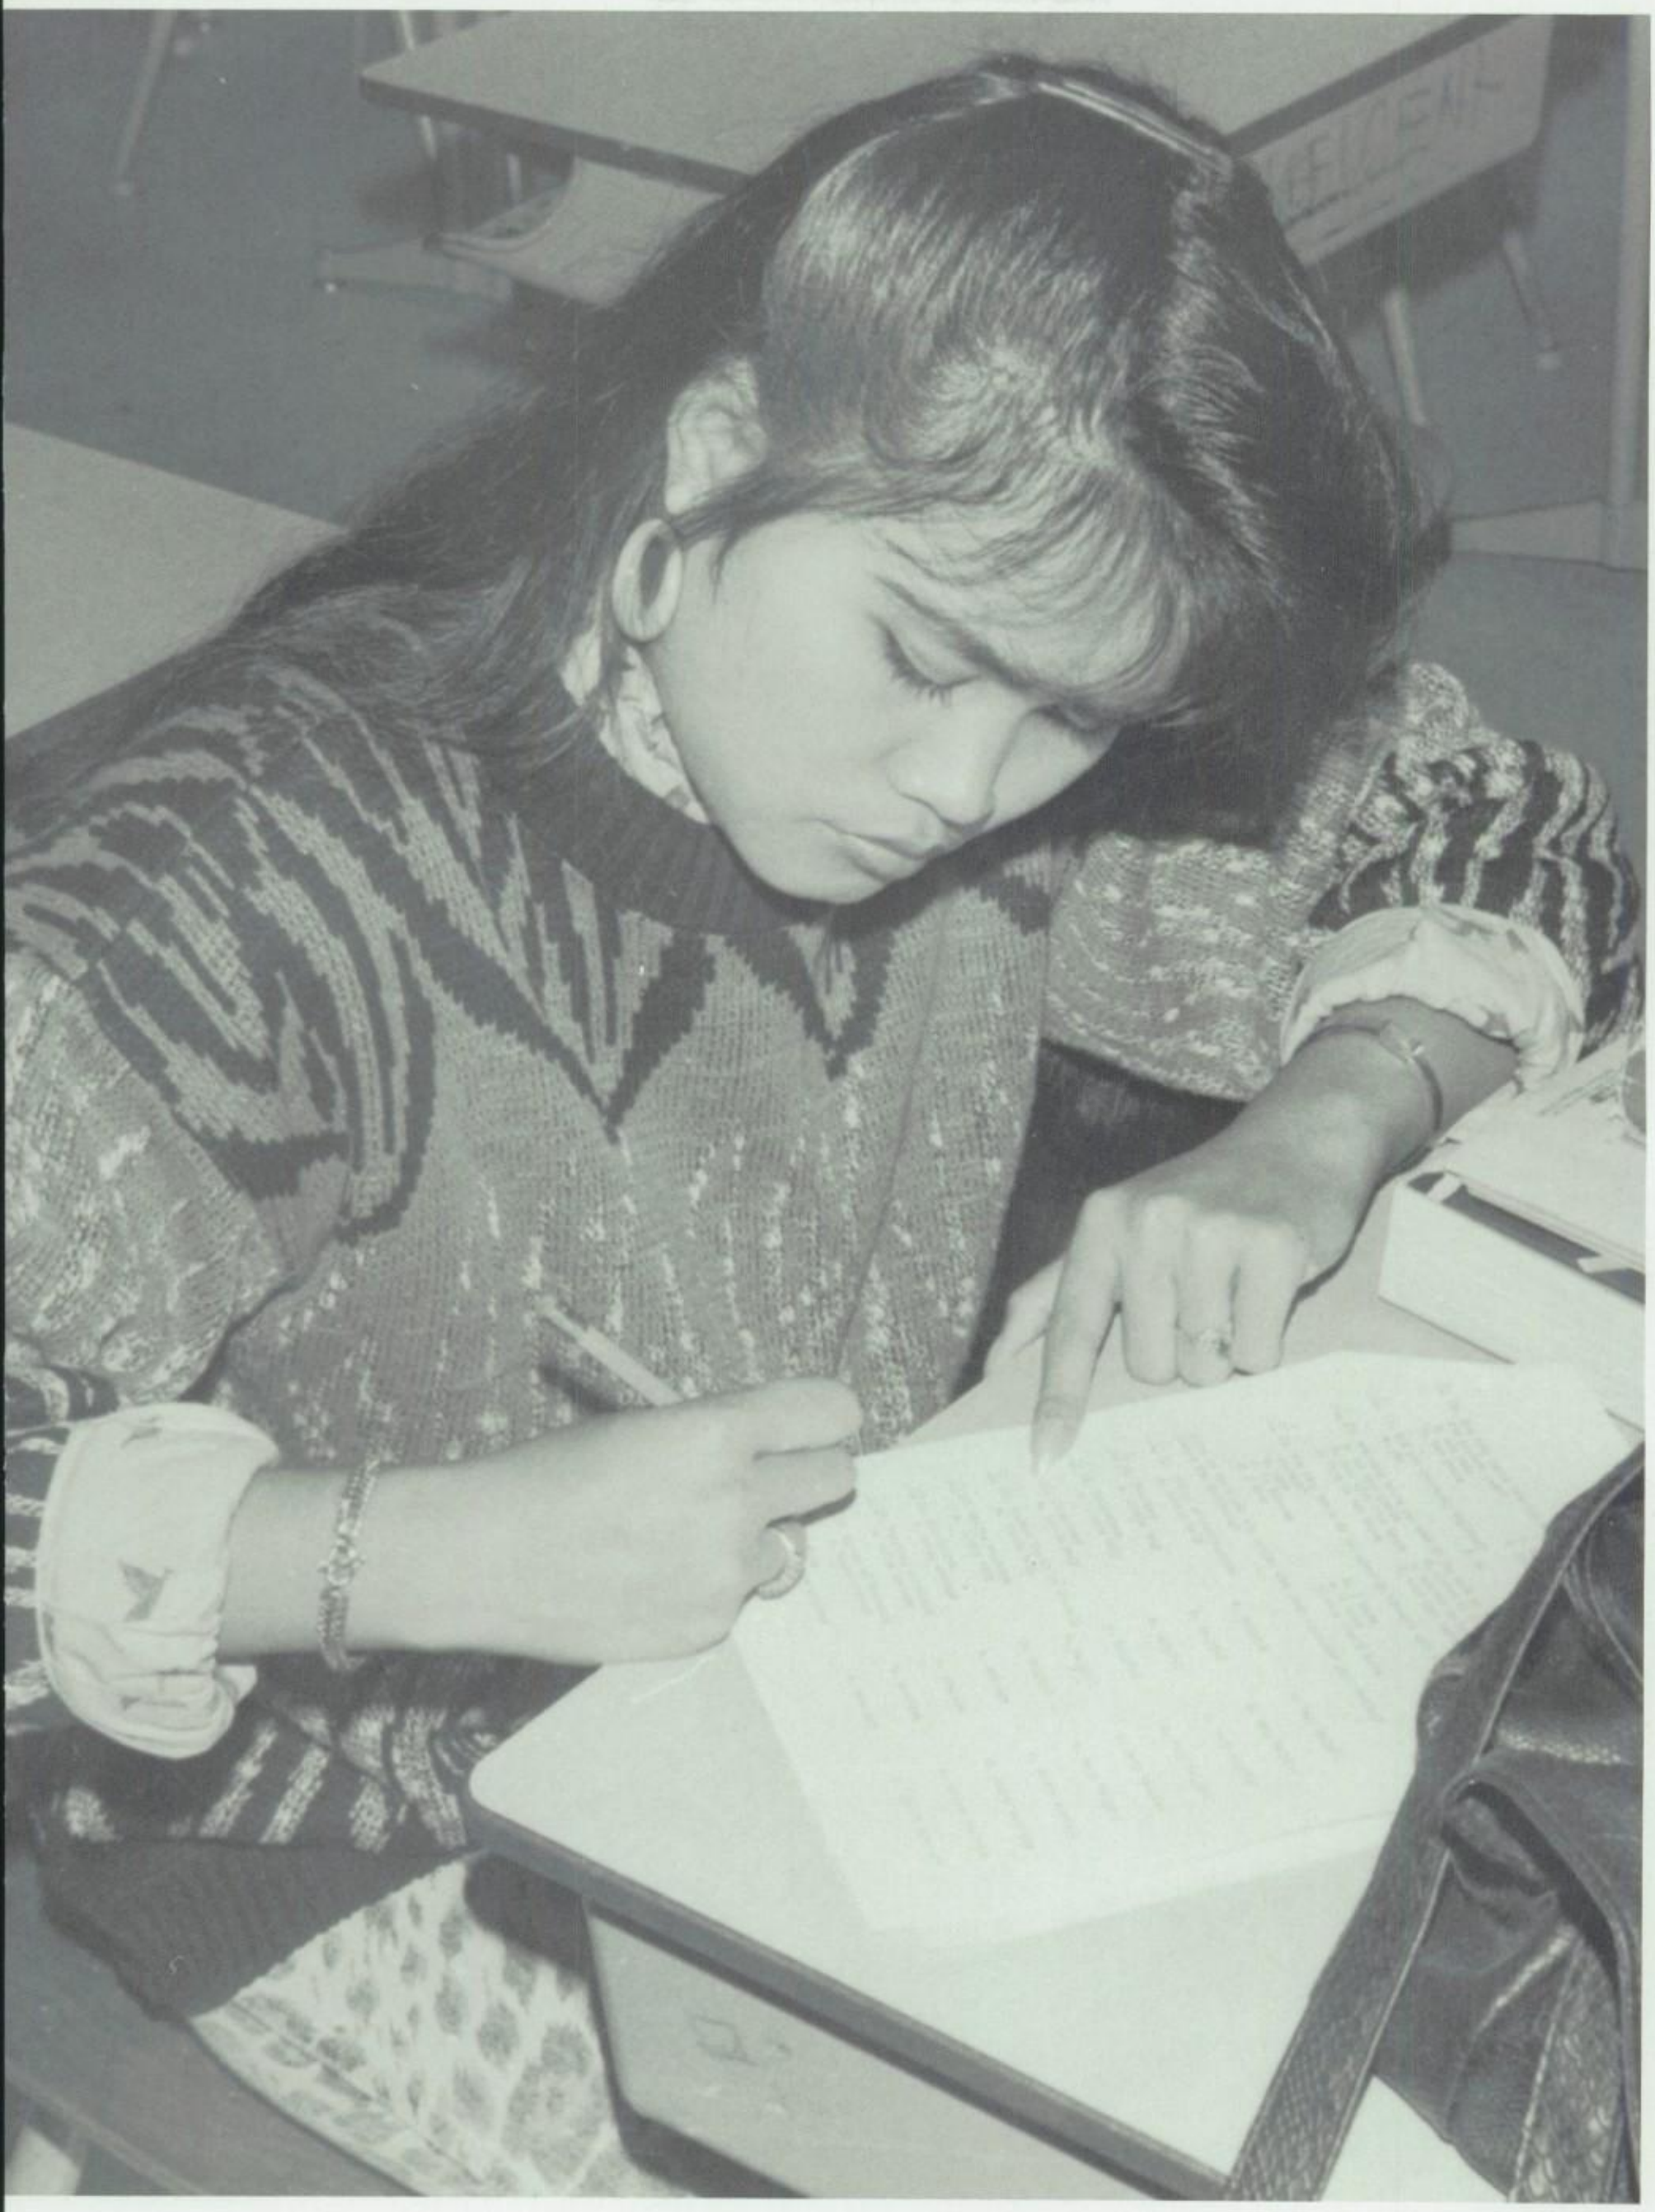
THESE EAGLE'S FLEW THE COOP

HAVE YOU SEEN THESE LEGS?

In case you haven't noticed, these two crazy seniors Mike Hayes and Scott Henegar have been wearing shorts everyday. The reason? A twenty dollar bet! These two have been wearing shorts through sleet and snow; rain and shine. Now that summer is just about here, it looks like they are gonna make it, and it's understandable that no other seniors will be as glad to see summer as these two crazy guys!

Academics

For most high school students class time is not the most exciting part of the day. Their favorite moments are spent during lunch, and after school when they get to "hang out" with their friends and do whatever they want. Actually, the most important part of the day, the part that will mean the most to students for the rest of their lives, is considered their least favorite. Academics, the part of the day when students have to sit in classes, take notes, do assigned work, and use their brain, will remain an integral part of the school day whether we like it or not!



One familiar face that looms above the crowd here at Ben L. Smith is its soft spoken leader, Mr. Bennie Higgins. Every student recognizes his face. Perhaps this face even appears in one of their dreams at night. One would assume that a personage so familiar would also be well known, but that is not necessarily true. Therefore, it is time we know the real Mr. Bennie Higgins. What lies beneath that gentle exterior?

Q. How long have you been here at Smith, Mr. Higgins?
A. I have been here since 1972.
Q. Do you enjoy your job here at Smith?
A. Yes, most of the time.
Q. What do you enjoy about Smith?
A. Smith students are down to earth; they are sincere and they aren't impressed by things. They accept things at their true value.
Q. Have you ever thought about quitting you job?
A. Sometimes, but the good times outweigh the bad.
Q. Do you have any favorite type of student?
A. They are the ones who know their expectations.
Q. Were you once a teacher, and where did you teach?
A. I taught biology at Dudley High School.
Q. How old are you?
A. I am fourty-four years old.
Q. How many children do you have?
A. One son. His name is Terrik.
Q. Who was your favorite teacher when you were in school?
A. My fourth grade teacher, Miss Laura Brown.
Q. Were you ever sent to "the big guy?" (the principal)
A. Yes, I was sent to the office for being too cool and wearing shades in class.
Q. Do you enjoy school sports?
A. Yes, being a former athlete myself, I am very interested in sports.
Q. What sports did you play while in school?
A. Basketball.
Q. What college did you attend?
A. I attended Hampton Institute which is now Hampton University.
Q. Did you ever cut class when you were in high school?
A. Yes, once in the seventh grade. It was the most miserable day of my life. I didn't have anything to do
Q. If you were a school, what kind would you be?
A. I would be a high school because those are the best years, filled with many activities, and it is the most exciting time.

Mr. Bennie Higgins, principal, human being. After speaking with Mr. Higgins and askin him the above questions, I learned that every one goes through the same growing up period Even Mr. Higgins made mistakes when he wa young. I also learned what a great deal o compassion Mr. Higgins has for students and was glad that our principal could look into h past and see a little bit of himself in me.

MacDonald Still Here!

Mrs. Brenda MacDonald, a graduate of UNC-G, has been a member of the Ben L. Smith family since 1965. Through the years, Mrs. MacDonald has become one of the most prominent teachers at Ben L. Smith. Her teaching achievements earned her the "Eagle of the Year" award in 1983. Mrs. MacDonald teaches World and U.S. History. In addition she helps advise the High I.Q. team after school.

When asked if history is important she said "Of course! The reason is that we get the knowledge of our common heritage and it brings us closer together-stronger as a nation." Her favorite continents to teach are Asia, Europe and Africa. She likes their different cultures, customs and religions.

During Mrs. MacDonald's twenty-two years of teaching here, one memory that sticks out in her mind is the student riots. She remembers the police patrolling the campus and the halls. Mrs. MacDonald enjoys Smith students but there are a couple she would be happy never to see or hear of again. When asked about the twenty-fifth anniversary, Mrs. MacDonald stated "I think it's great. I hope it will give Smith more credibility, foster more school spirit, and help us gain an even more positive community image."

Thanks for all your years of dedication to Smith High School. We appreciate you Mrs. MacDonald.

A SMITH TRADITION

If you've been to Smith High School, you would have seen her. She is truly part of our school. Who is this lady? You probably recognize that little gray bun. Yes, it is Mrs. Dene Styers.

Mrs. Dene Styers, Journalism teacher, English teacher, and former Yearbook teacher, came to Smith during the 1965-66 school year. She has been here for over twenty years, and her smiling face is a symbol of the enthusiasm within Smith High School's faculty. Her accomplishments are numerous. When asked to reflect on her years at Smith, Mrs. Styers had many stories to tell.

One of Mrs. Styers warmest memories was that of the 1967 Yearbook staff. Although Mrs. Styers taught yearbook many years, she remembers this staff most because according to her "It was the best yearbook because in the National Competition, it got an A+."

When asked why she had stayed at Smith so long, Mrs. Styers smiled and said "I love Smith; if I didn't like it, I wouldn't have stayed here over twenty years." Mrs. Styers feels Smith is her school. "Smith is the school my children went to. It's in my neighborhood, and it's the school where I teach. When somebody hurts Smith, they hurt me very much," replied Mrs. Styers.

Mrs. Styers majored in English, but when asked what her favorite subject is, she stated "It is whatever I'm teaching at the time." She added, "I love people showing school spirit; that is what every school needs." Mrs. Styers feels Smiths' student body demonstrates this special spirit. Mrs. Styers said "I'm going to teach at Smith until they won't let me teach anymore."

Anyone who has ever had the privilege of having Mrs. Styers as a teacher knows what a wonderful teacher she is. We appreciate her dedication to the student body of Smith High School. She is truly a Smith tradition.

And the 1987-88 Faculty Homecoming Queen is...Mrs. Betty Manduley!!!!! Who is this bubbly lady with the funny accent? Let's find out.

Q. How long have you been teaching at Smith?
A. I have been teaching off and on for twenty-seven years.
Q. Where did you live before moving to Greensboro?
A. I lived in Miami for three years and Cuba before then.
Q. What is the funniest thing that has happened here at Smith?
A. There is not any one thing, something funny happens everyday.
Q. What did you tell your grand-daughter before she started school here?
A. Watch out for the boys, stay out of trouble, pay attention, and don't talk so much.
Q. What is your most memorable moment at Smith High School?
A. Becoming faculty homecoming queen.
Q. How does it feel to become the faculty homecoming queen?
A. It makes me feel twenty years younger, because a queen is usually young and pretty.
Q. How is the school here different from the one you attended?
A. We had to wear uniforms, and we couldn't wear make-up Also, we didn't change classes, the teachers did. We got to choose the hours we wanted to to go to school, from eight to twelve in the mornings, or from one to six in the afternoon.
Q. What do you like best about Smith students?
A. They are down to earth, not stuck-up, and are like a big family. They are also open-minded.
Q. Tell us a little bit about yourself at home.
A. I have three kids, all graduates of Smith, and now my grand-daughter is attending Smith. I adore my dogs. I love to travel, and I like to swim.

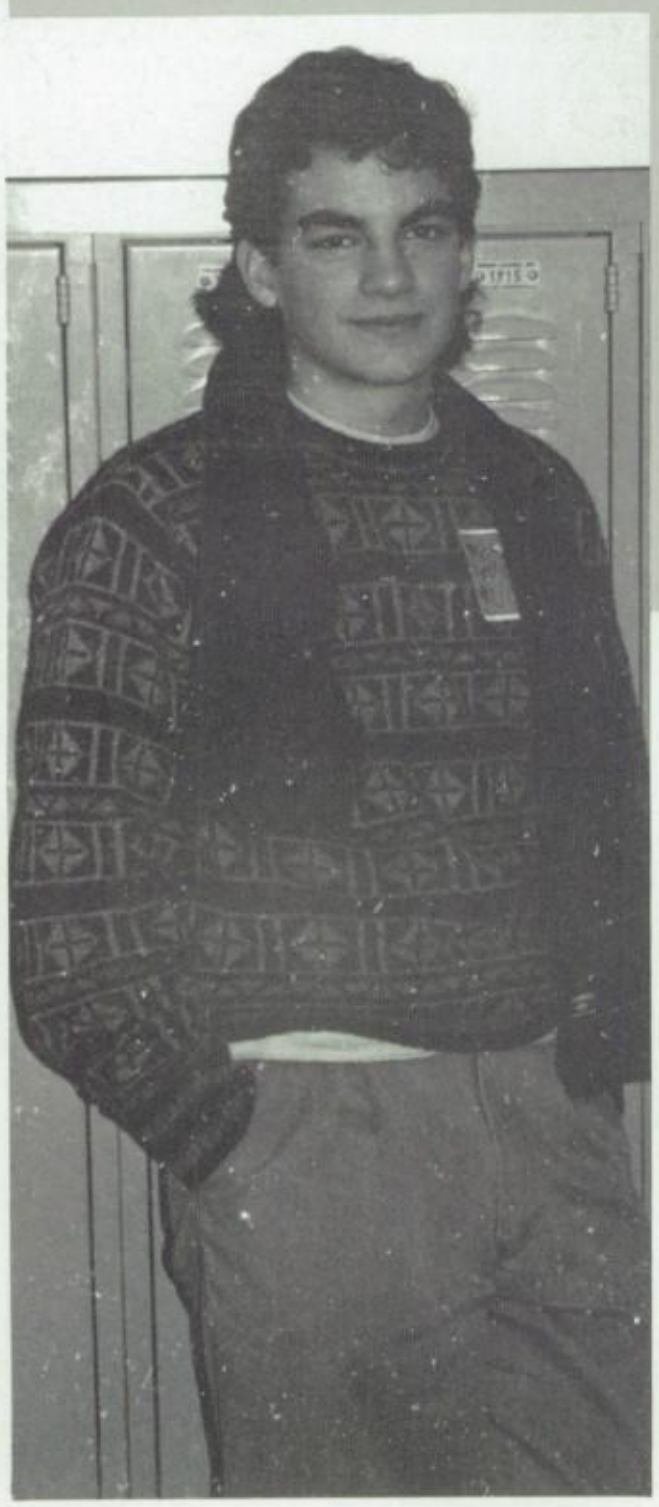
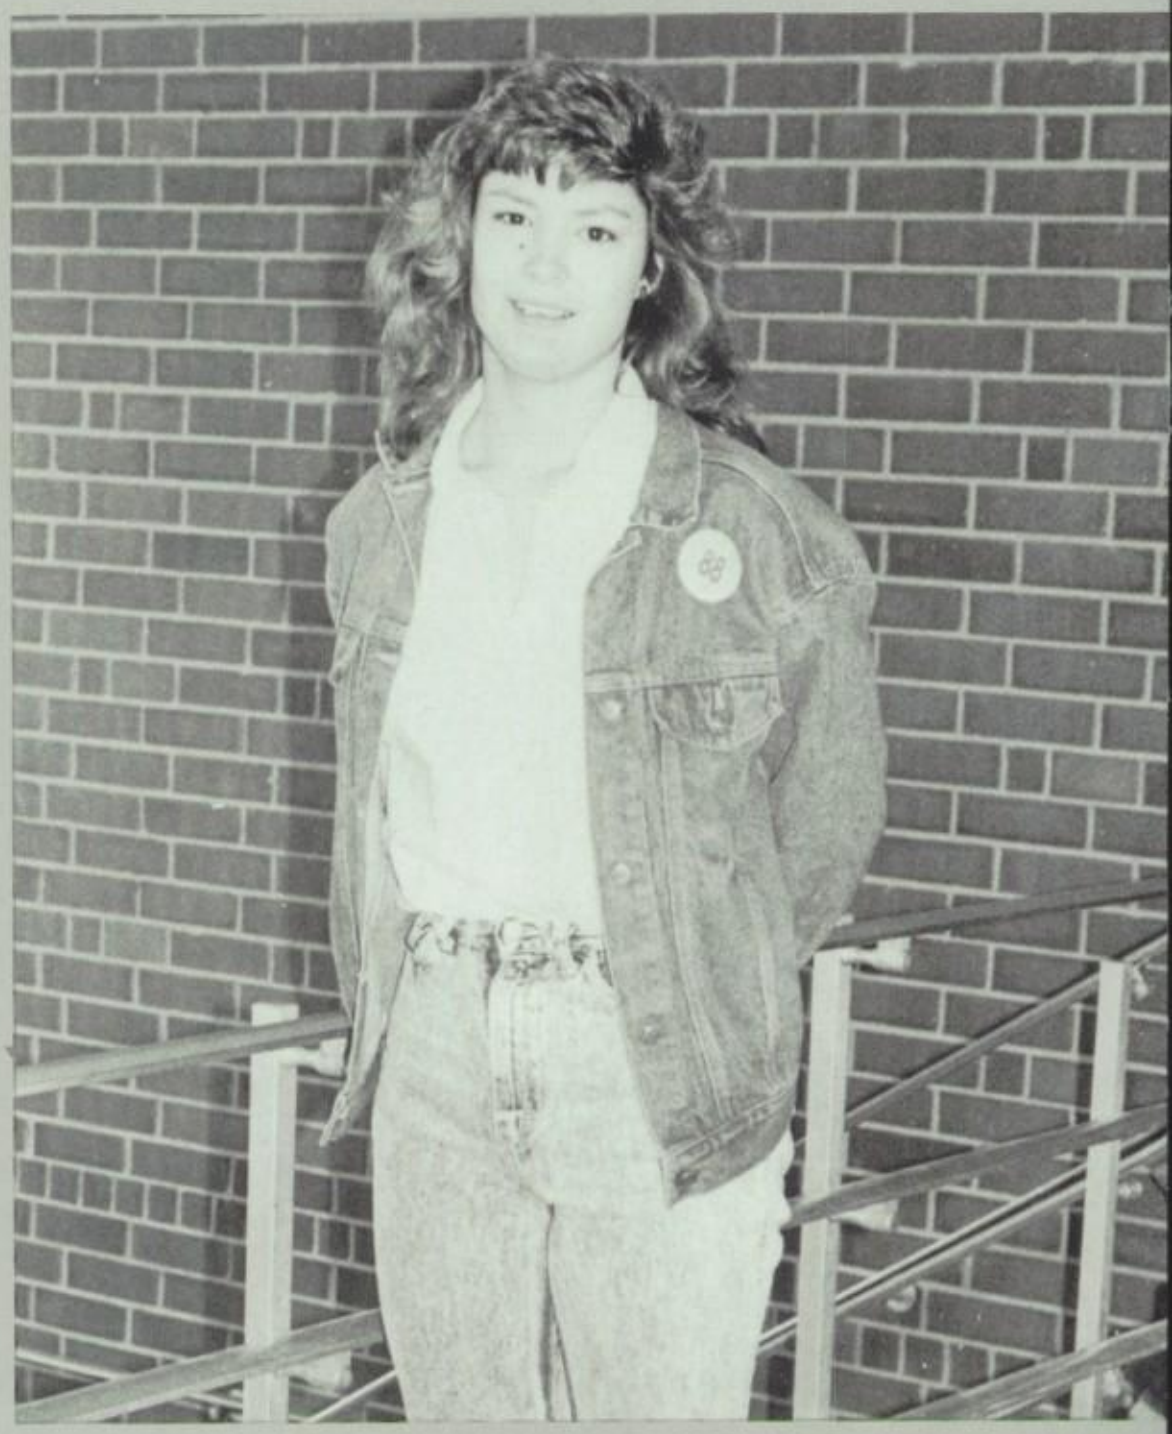
Mrs. Gayle Nelson has fully experienced both sides of Smith High School, first as a member of Smith's first graduating class, and later as a business teacher. In January, 1988, Mrs. Nelson will celebrate her seventeenth anniversary here as a teacher. We asked Mrs. Nelson what has changed over the past twenty-five years here at Smith. "My first year here as a student and my first year as a teacher are the years I remember most. The styles have changed. When I was a student, girls couldn't wear slacks. Blue jeans were not worn much. The facility has improved greatly. We have always had a great faculty and student body. When I was a student, the principal was Mr. William B. McIver. There isn't as much difference between the students of yesterday and today as people say. Students today do not show as much respect for their teachers as we did. When I graduated, I didn't think I would ever be back at Smith. After I decided to teach though, I wanted to come back to Smith. For several years, I felt funny calling the other teachers, teachers I had had, by their first names."

HEAD OF THE CLASS

Every year awards are given for outstanding academic performance. They are awarded in the fields of Math, Science, Social Studies, and English. There were many awards presented at last years awards ceremony. Each recipient felt a sense of pride when accepting an award in front of his peers. Not everyone can be a star quarterback or a slam-dunk basket ball master. Academic awards give students an opportunity to be recognized for the equally time consuming challenge to the best in a particular area. Although there are no cheering crowds, these individuals maintain the determination to go independently forward, giving 110% in order to accomplish their goals. Sometimes an academic award winner's work goes unnoticed by the student body until the day of the awards ceremony, but his work is appreciated, and it is on that day that the student body and faculty unite in congratulating that award winner on all his efforts.

These awards are the result of hard work and determination. Two of these hard-working award winners share their feelings on winning their award.





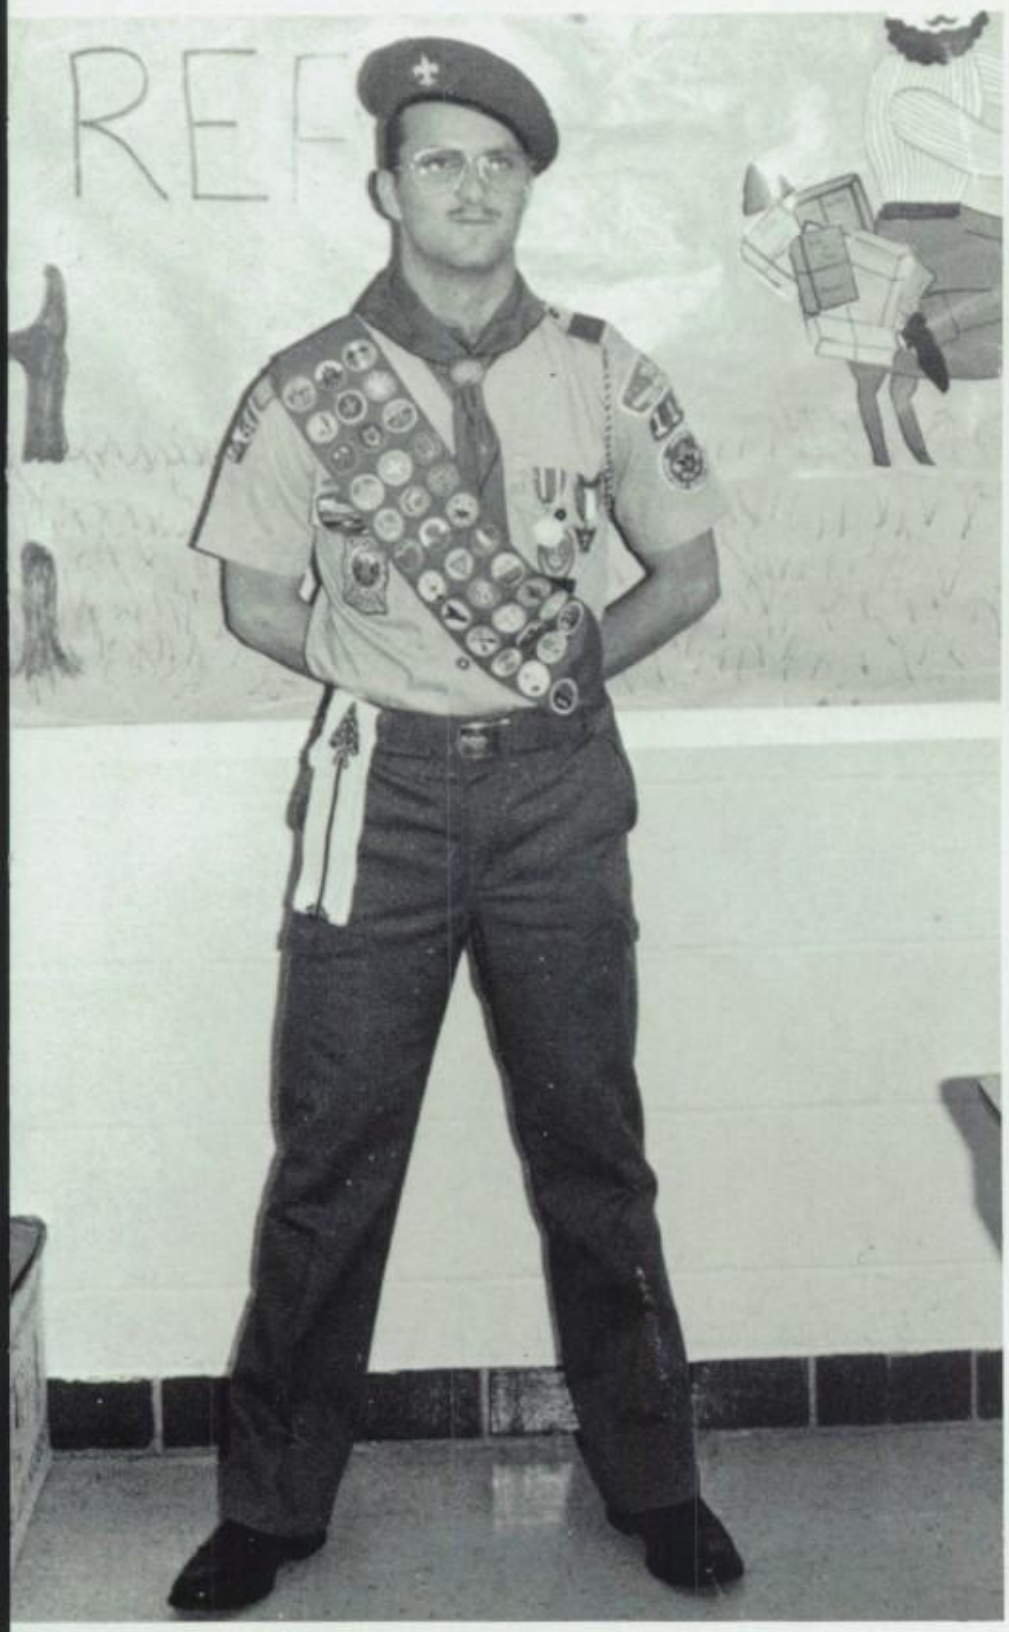
How do you feel about winning your award?

Name of award: Physics
Recipient: Paul Tavernise

Last year I was given the Physics Award by Dr. Eckard. I did well enough in my physics class last year to earn merit. Science has always been my best subject and has come easily. It was nice to be recognized for my achievements, but I don't feel that it is particularly important for me to strive to win awards.

Name of award: Most Outstanding Medi Aide
Recipient: Melody Stinson

I was really surprised when I got th award last year. I enjoyed working with M Davis, Mrs. Lee, and Mrs. McTillma Actually, I didn't look upon it as work, was too much fun. Even though I don think I did anything special, I feel honore that I was awarded.



Mark Springfield proudly shows off his uniform.

Even while hard at work, Mark always manages a smile.

He is the guy everyone knows at Smith. He is always there to give a helping hand. On November 2,1987, Mark Springfield was honored as a recipient of The Eagle Scout Award.

Mark, with the help of friends, built a picnic area for Smith High School. In the summer of 1986 he began his project of love. Mark had noticed the need for an area just for students. He wanted this area to be beautiful; a place where students could get away from the pressure of classes. When asked what inspired him to begin this project, Mark said, "I thought that the school needed something to bring back some school spirit, but my main goal was to keep students from hanging around the student parking lot at lunchtime."

The Eagle Scout Award is the highest rank in the Boy Scouts. He said, "It took me six and a half years to achieve this award, and I'm so happy I recieved this honor."

Mark Springfield is truly an award winner. Not only has Mark excelled in the Scouts, but in addition he has devoted his time and smile to giving Smith High School more than any award could acknowlege. "Mark is the kind of student every teacher dreams of," commented one faculty member. He is always there giving a helping hand, asking "What can I do?" Mark works quietly; he doesn't need inspiration-he is an inspiration!

AN EAGLE FOR AN EAGLE

With some help from his friends, Mark makes Eagle's Landing a reality.

NEW SIGHTS, NEW TASTES, NEW SOUNDS

"In the U.S. they don't have war, and they're very nice people here."

Mrs. Leisa Huddleston has been teaching ESL at Smith High School since 1983. Mrs. Huddleston was an ESL teacher in Minnesota when her family decided to move east. They picked Greensboro out of a book of nice places to live. She applied at Smith and got the job. She has been doing a wonderful job ever since.

Mrs. Huddleston loves her job. She never gives up and rarely becomes frustrated; however, she does remember a very difficult student from Cambodia who had never gone to school before. "All she had been exposed to was war and refugee camps," recalls Mrs. Huddleston. "She could barely hold a pencil, and her progress was very slow." With the help of Mrs. Huddleston, this student learned to speak, read, and write in English.

According to Mrs. Huddleston, ESL concentrates on the four skills of listening, speaking, reading, and writing English. These skills are essential to survival in an English speaking society. Mrs. Huddleston has further educated the community on the importance of ESL by producing a slide tape program on refugee students which she has shared with other schools, churches, and organizations.

ESL students share their cultures during International Day.

International Day provides an opportunity for all students to celebrate the differences in our cultures, and likenesses in our humanity.

Mrs. Huddleston in action.

Q. What is your name and where are you from?
A. My name is Savann Sam. I come from Cambodia.
Q. How old are you?
A. I am 18 years old.
Q. How did you come here?
A. I got here by plane.
Q. Did you come with your family?
A. Yes.
Q. How long have you been in the U.S.?
A. I have been in the U.S. for three and one half years.
Q. Do you like it here?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. What's different here compared to your country?
A. In our home, it isn't good. We don't have beds to sleep in. But here we have a lot of buildings, beds, and a lot of things. I like to live in the U.S.
Q. Do you like Big Macs?
A. Yes, I do!
Q. Do you have a place where teenagers "hang out" at home?
A. Yes, we do. We go to the temple.
Q. What was the most difficult thing to get used to when you came here?
A. When we came here, we didn't know how to speak English, but now we can speak okay. The difficult thing was the big words we couldn't under stand.
Q. What do you miss most about home?
A. I miss my grandfather and grandmother.
Q. Do you think you will ever go back home?
A. I think so, but I'm scared if I go now, I might get killed because in our country there is war.
Q. How is Smith different from your school back at home?
A. Back in our school, we study only three subjects. Each subject, we study for two hours. But in Smith High School, they have six subjects. The six subjects are good for us. And Smith has a lot of students.

Q. What is your name and where are you from?
A. My name is Siphan Kong and I am from Cambodia.
Q. What was the most difficult thing to get used to when you came here?
A. Learning English is a very difficult thing for me. It is very hard to study English and understand the American people.
Q. How is Smith different from your school back home?
A. Well, in Smith's school, they have lunch. In our school, they didn't have lunch.
Q. Do you like Big Macs?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. Where did you "hang out" back home?
A. I hung out at the temple.
Q. How did you get to the U.S.?
A. I came by plane with my family.
Q. How old are you?
A. I am 15 years old.
Q. What do you miss most about home?
A. I miss my grandparents. I lost them when I was five years old. They live in Thailand now.
Q. How long have you been here?
A. Four years.
Q. Do you think you will ever return home?
A. I don't think so because they will still probably have war.

Q. What is your name and where are you from?
A. My name is Pon Chanthaphone. I come from Laos.
Q. How long have you been in the U.S.?
A. I have been here for a year and a half.
Q. Do you like it here?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. What's different here compared to home?
A. I have to speak English, and it has very different people.
Q. What was the most difficult adjustment you had to make?
A. Speaking English, and the different way people eat. The most difficult thing is to listen and understand the teacher explain in class.
Q. Do you like to eat Big Macs?
A. Yes, I do.
Q. What do you miss most about home?
A. I miss my friends back home. I used to play with my friends and my grandfather.
Q. How is Smith different from your school back home?
A. Smith's teachers are helpful. But it isn't the same here. In America they speak English and it is hard to understand what they are saying. I hope I get used to it.
Q. Do you think you will ever return home?
A. I don't know for sure if I will ever go home. My friends, and the people I grew up with might not remember me, but I would still like to go back and tell my friends how good America is.

Q. What is your name and where are you from?
A. My name is Chhary S. Chhay, and I'm from Cambodia.
Q. Do you like it here?
A. Yes, I love it very much.
Q. How long have you been here?
A. I have been here for four years.
Q. Did you come alone or with family?
A. I came with my sister.
Q. What's different here compared to your home?
A. In the U.S. they don't have war, and they're very nice people here. In my country it is very different from here. We have a lot of war and mean people here.

Q. What was the most difficult thing to used to get used to when you came here?
A. Learning English is very difficult thing for me. It is very hard to study English and understand the American people.
Q. Do you like Big Macs?
A. Yes, I do like Big Macs.
Q. Where do you like to "hang out?"
A. I like to hang out at the mall with all my friends, and sometime we go to dance party, and I love to dance very much.
Q. What do you miss about home?
A. I miss my family the most because I lost them when I was seven years old. I am now 18 years old, and I never see my family. I don't even remember what they look like. Everytime when I see my friends and they have their family with them, I have so much hurt. I want to be with my family. I miss them so much.
Q. Do you ever plan on going back home?
A. I will go back to my country to find my family, but I won't live there because I don't like the way people are in my country.

LOOKING FORWARD

When you think of looking forward to the future, most of us think of the cars we are going to drive, the girls we are going to date, and the fresh clothes we are going to have. It's easy to imagine having all the things we dream about while in high school. Unfortunately it's not always so easy to achieve the goals we have set for ourselves. Afterall, money definitely does not grow on trees, and most of us do not have a rich uncle who is going to provide the capitol to finance our every desire. Ultimately one has to face the facts; owning a Mercedes Benz requires money, and money comes from a paycheck, and a paycheck results when one works!

One great way to prepare for that big step into the working world is by taking courses which give you hands-on experience. When students take courses such as Marketing, Word Processing, Home Economics, and Co-Op, they are not only getting a credit; they are preparing for the future.

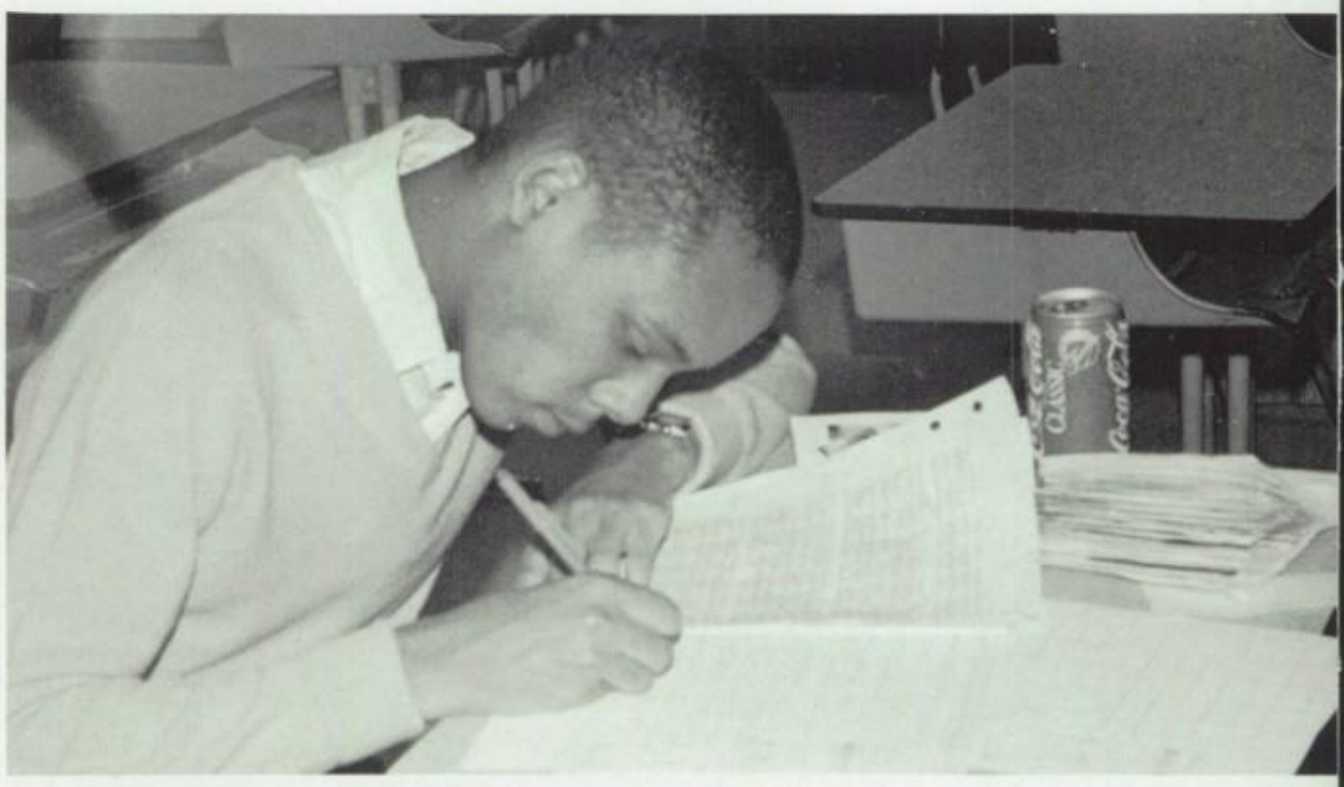
TO THE FUTURE

Each year the Greensboro and Guilford County Schools, and the Greensboro Youth Council sponsor a Career Day for all juniors. This year our juniors went to the Coliseum Exhibition Hall on December 9, 1987, to talk to individuals representing over one hundred career fields. The careers ranged from Cosmetology to Electrical Technology. Doctors, lawyers, postal workers, Navy and Army recruiting officers, were all there to talk about what their careers had to offer. After talking with the representatives, the Smith juniors decided there was a lot to choose from when considering what kind of job to pursue. All the students agreed that this trip helped open their eyes to many careers they hadn't considered, and that it was time to begin making decisions about their futures.

BACK TO BASICS

Even though we hate going to English, Math, and History, they are the main reasons we have to attend school. Everyone knows that when the 8:30 a.m. bell rings, it's time to start another one of those 180 days in which we must attend school. Most students would agree that they look forward to lunch more so for the break than for the cafeteria food. It's a fact that we need food for thought, but we still need the basics which allow us to better our chances in the world. These are the classes which we have been taking since 1st grade.



Cedric Cunningham demonstrates the determination and dedication it takes to make the grade.

Good eye contact is part of making the grade, right Kim and Robin?

Clubs

What is a club? What is the purpose of a club? What would school be without clubs? A club is a group, an organization, an experience. The purposes of clubs are as different as the clubs themselves. Some promote service, some leadership skills, some hands-on experience in life. School would be a boring place without clubs.

Clubs offer students the opportunity to socialize and learn how to work in group situtations. Some clubs are related to classes, while other clubs provide an outlet for interests not covered in the classroom. Any student who desires to become a member of a club can certainly find at least one club that offers something of interest. The clubs at Smith range from Student Council, a club promoting leadership skills, to the Drama Club, a club that offers the student knowledge of theater mechanics as well as providing an opportunity to experience the thrill of performance.

Perhaps most importantly, clubs allow students a chance to make new friends with people they might not otherwise get to know. Clubs also encourage service to the community and the school. Clubs are an important part in preparing the student for the outside world which requires working together for a common goal.

Sophomores: Daniel Shook, Michael Winsor, Kevin Dewire.

Who was the fifth president of the United States? What is the fourth largest city in the world? What are the odds of drawing a red spade out of a deck of cards? Who wrote Les Miserables? "Is it Keats," an enthusiastic student asks. And so it goes in the world of buzzers, trivia, and brains. Academically talented students do their best to answer questions ranging from general knowledge on trivia to questions on science, history , mathematics, and english.

This year Steve Baines, Todd Welch, and Levern Allen, three juniors, defeated Grimsley 92-59. The Senior High I.Q. team placed seventh out of forty teams state wide in GYC's High I.Q. Bowl. They also competed in a television round against Jordan High School of Durham, N.C.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Brenda MacDonald and Mrs. Helen Stone, High I.Q. learned what mental calisthenics were all about. Thanks to these dedicated coaches, Smith's Academic Challenge Team became mentally fit and did a great job representing Ben L. Smith in 88.

The SECME Club's goal is to increase the number of students qualified for and entering the study of engineering. SECME includes the following components:

-Identification and placement of academically talented students in college-preparatory math, science, and english courses.

-Enrichment and support of mathematics, science and language arts curriculum through the use of supplementary materials and activities which demonstrate the relevance of the academic subject and engineering concepts.

-Providing community involvement through parent participation, student participation, civic organizations, and other community groups.

The SECME club expects to:

-Acquaint students with various engineering fields as potential careers.

-Encourage students to enroll in advanced courses in preparation for college.

-Help students develop a realization of the importance of mathematics, science and language skills.

-Provide opportunities for students to develop individual abilities and interests through work on special projects.

-Enhance the regular curriculum by providing experience such as field trips, guest speakers, and special programs.

-Utilize the guidance department for personal counseling in engineering fields.

-Help students to develop research skills and better study habits.

Inter-Club Council, a six year old club at Smith, takes part in doing many things for the school such as beautification. The club doesn't raise money. All the clubs are coordinated by Inter-Club Council to see what everyone is doing. To become a member, a person is selected by a club to be their representative in the Council. The twelve members meet in the Media Center every month. Members: Robin Wilkinson, Patrick Graham, Kristie Bailey, Tim Sheppard, Missy Bame.

STUDENT COUNCIL

Student Council arranges special homecoming event.

Shanaz Khan thinks its too cold.

From the first day of school, with the decorations and poster over the doors exclaiming, "Welcome back to the best high school: Ben L. Smith!" it was obvious that Student Council would be a major factor in the 1987-88 school year.

The Executive Board, consisting of the class and student body officers, as well as the YRC and Pep Club chairmen, has been the center of the organization. Attending leadership conventions, observing Teacher Appreciation Week with a car wash and gifts for the teachers, and planning fund-raisers are just a few of the innumerable activities that have kept these leaders consistently busy. Ms. Nettie Williams, the advisor, helps the student representatives with their duties, but has expressed that the students work well together and take the initiative to do things on their own.

Boxes of M&M's for fifty cents was the first fund-raiser for future events, such as the October 23 Homecoming and dances for the students. All members of Student Council sold the candy and the project was a great success. Spirit booster seminars were also reinstated by this year's Student Council.

The vivacious energy and spirit of Student council officers and representatives, along with their leadership skills and ability to relate to others, brought on a renewal of school spirit and student participation at Smith this year.

The class of 1988 had a large Honor Society. During the course of the year, their service projects included helping out with the Special Olympics and taking to the Asheboro Zoo. In addition to participation in the Honor Society activities these students also were required to keep up a cummulative grade point average of 3.0, and maintain satisfactory conduct while in class. Leading the Honor Society this year were...

Officers: Amy Driscoll-Vice-President, Roula Hanhan-Secretary, Denise Caison-Parlimentarian, and Jay Parker-President.

Members of the Honor Society: Angie Mundy, Todd Deery, Amy Thompson, Jay Parker, Stephanie Pankey, Charles Honeycutt, Brian Brown, Mark Rainey, Heath Scoggin, Janet Rivera, Deedee Scoggin, Ty Swaringer, Brent Kinney, Mary Jo Frawley, Roula Hanhan, Diana Jou, Dawn Staudinger, Penny Jou, Tracy Jordan, Denise Caison, Amy Tate, Jeanine Tincher, Tammy West, Andy Wray, Robert George, Amy Driscoll, Kimberly Brown, Rhonda Gates, Tim Sheppard, Amy Williams, Heather Patterson, Jai Park, Paul Tavernise, and Craig Lancaster.

JUNIOR MARSHALLS

The Junior Marshalls are last year's top juniors in academics. Their main performance was ushering for the 1987 graduation. The Head Marshall, Andy Wray, and Co-Head, Amy Tate, led the graduating seniors into and out of the coliseum. Membership includes: Tim Sheppard, Penny Jou, Jai Park, Heather Patterson, Brian Brown, Chris Mode, Denise Caison, Amy Tate, Patrick Graham, Yin Ping, Tracy Jordan, Dawn Staudinger, Heath Scoggin, Andy Wray.

ART CLUB

The officers of this year's Art Club are: President-Shawn Tuck, Vice-President-Niki Pearson, Secretary-Lavonne Tillman, and Parliamentarian/Historian-In Kim. The homecoming representative from the Art Club was Alisa Flemings. In the spring, the members of the Art Club visited some local art galleries. They include Greenhill Center for N.C. Art, Weatherspoon Art Gallery, and Africa Heritage Center at A & T.

ART HONOR SOCIETY

John Patterson, Tammy West, Patrick Graham, Kenneth Martell, Mr. Tuck, June Thi Nguyen, Pamela Little, Mary Frawley, Stephanie Jones.

The Art Honor Society members are required to be in grades 10 through 12, and have a 3.0 average in art. They must also excel in art scholarship, service, and character. To reward successful art students is the main purpose of the Art Honor Society. This year's officers are: President-Patrick Graham, Vice-President-John Patterson, Secretary/Treasurer-Tammy West, Historian/Parliamentarian-Hanna Shahnawaz, and Coordinator of Activities-Kenneth Martell. Escorted by Patrick Graham, Tammy West represented the Art Honor Society at Homecoming.

There are a total of sixty-eight members in the Spanish Club. It is one of the largest clubs at Smith High School. The advisors are Mr. R. Boyd and Mrs. Manduley. The officers are: President: Angel Miller, Vice President: At Thonsevahn, Secretary: Rhonda Gates, and Tresurer: Maria Hicks.

The club has their meetings in Room 204 after school. The Spanish Club has fundraising with candy sales. They award cash prizes for highest sales, bench for school, a scholarship for a deserving senior ($400), and an end of school picnic. They set up a game for Ghoulash in Four Seasons Mall in conjunction with GYC to promote a safe Halloween for children. Spanish Club also provides volunteers for civic charitable programs like Crop Walk, clean up days at Smith, and restoring old toys at Christmas.

They have planned a spring trip to Mexico City and Acapulco (The Mexican Rivera) for 8 days on April 2-9. This is open to the whole Smith Family with reservations. Also, there is a trip to Europe scheduled for June.

The requirements of the Spanish Club are interest in Spanish or Hispanic Culture, presently studying Spanish, you must pay $2.00 dues, and GPA conduct in accordance to GPA guidlines for extra curricular activities.

Anchor Club is a take-off of the Pilot Organization, made up of women. This year, we have helped with the Crop Walk, and have gone to the Eastern Star Masonic Home to decorate for Christmas. We also helped with Pilot Club bazaar and the GYC toy repair workshop. Another project, we worked on was Operation Teddy Bear. In this project, we purchased a teddy bear for each police car so when a police officer picks up a child, he will have a friend with him.

The Astra Club is a new club. It is a branch of the Altrusa Club and is sponsored by the Altrusa Club. The advisors are Mrs. Simpson and Dr. Mesenbrink. The purposes of this new club are to provide opportunites for citizenship development, foster the concept of service through practical application in school and/or community, sponsor social and cultural activities, and promote fellowship and better understanding among all people. Its motto is "Growing In Service." Astra is open to all girls from the age of 13 to 19. This year Astra's main project was adopting a family whose house had been destroyed by fire.

YRC

The purpose of YRC is to prepare for Homecoming activities. The dance and the halftime festivities were planned by committies of YRC. This year all of the clubs were invited to participate in the Homecoming Celebration by electing an honorary representative to the court. The 25th Anniversary was the cause for this special augmented court.

Members of YRC are: Keith Funderburk, Kevin Funderburk, Cassie Crawford, Nikki Knox, Kim Thompson, Felicia Thompson, Amy Williams, Terrick Higgins, Kim Pender, Allison Heggie, Natalie Stewart, Kim Parson, Bridgett James, Nichole McMillian, Robin Davis, Tee Faulkner, Tia Warren, Kim Perkins, and Chairperson-Angela Mosley.

MEDIA CLUB

The Ben L. Smith Media Club is made up of students in grades nine through twelve who serve as aides in the Media Center at some time during the day. The purpose of this club is to enable students to learn more about media services and media related career fields, to provide opportunities to develop leadership skills, and to foster a sense of comradeship among aides who provide service to fellow students in the media center. Smith Media Club belongs to the North Carolina High School Library Media Association. District and State meetings are held annually. This year the Media Club was very active. They participated in National Library Week 1987, and for American Education Week, they made special announcements and presented apples to the teachers. Representative were sent to the District Conference in November and to the State Conference in March.

Future Homeworkers of America is a vocational education student organization that functions as an integral part of the home economics education curriculum. FHA consists of 28 members at Smith and 315,000 nationally. Its goal is to help youth assume active roles in society through home economics education. The club has been very active this year. They have participated in many activities this year such as a workshop in Durham, the Greensboro Crop Walk for World Hunger, a fund raiser, and they took can goods to the urban ministy. These are only a few of the activities that FHA took part in this year.

COMPUTER CLUB

The leader of the computer club for the school year of 1987-88 was Patrick N. Graham. Under his leadership the club undertook many of the same projects as they did last year, such as a computer course for adults and their sale of gobstoppers. Throughout the year the members also learned more about the IBM, Apple, and McIntosh computers. The students learned how to write and use graphics commands with which they wrote and exchanged programs. Under the enthusiastic guidance and leadership of Mrs. Beck, the members of the computer club learned more about the different aspects of computers.

SCIENCE CLUB

The Science Club at Smith this year is mainly an enrichment program. One of their objectives is to have an article in the Eagle Eye each month dealing with some aspect of Science. The club is a very informal one which is geared toward learning about the sciences.

Put simply, Teen Outreach Program (T.O.P.), is an organization of Teens reaching out to other Teens to strive toward their fullest potential through group discussions. Meeting everyday the facilatator, Mrs. Simpson, leads the discussions where the teens talk about their personal and emotional problems and how to cope in a classroom environment. Everything is confidential — nothing leaves the classroom.

Although the communication between the students play a most vital role, the students in the Teen Outreach program must complete a total of seventy-five hours of volunteer work in the community. Students also had the chance to participate in a course at Guilford College called "New Ground", basically a self acceptance organization on a broader scale than TOP.

The Teen Outreach Program at Ben L. Smith has approximately ten students participating. Developed by the Junior League of Saint Louis, and funded by the Danforth Foundation, its ultimate goal is to help students across the country reach toward their fullest potential.

A CARNIVAL FOR SMITH

Club Officers: Shantae Gentry-Secretary, Pam Little-Vice-President, Robbin Simmons-Advisor, Amy Williams-President, Robin Ragsdale-Treasurer.

The 1987-88 Company Players have had a very successful and fun year. It was brought together by advisors Robin Simmons and Helen Allen, and the club officers. The officers were: Amy Williams, President; Pam Little, Vice-President; and Shantae Gentry, Secretary.

There were several activities that were carried out and were very productive. Some of these activities were the fashion show, the plays "Carnival" and "When Shakespeare's Ladies Meet," and many more.

"Carnival" was performed on October 24-26 in Smith's gym. It was performed in honor of Smith's 25th Anniversary. The thing that made this play different from others was the intermission. The audience got to come down in the set and play games, go through the haunted house, and win prizes.

The cast of "When Shakespeare's Ladies Meet" participated in the WC Theater Conference held at A & T University on November 14, 1988. Those participating were Chris Renshaw, Robin Ragsdale, Sonya Bennett, Amy Lawrence, Jennifer Lott, and Amy Williams, who won an honorable mention for best actress for her role as Cleopatra. The Company Players also got "Best Costume Design."

According to Amy Williams, "The best thing about the Drama Club is the experience and the learning." She encourages everyone to join in on the fun.

Chris Renshaw is ready for the show!

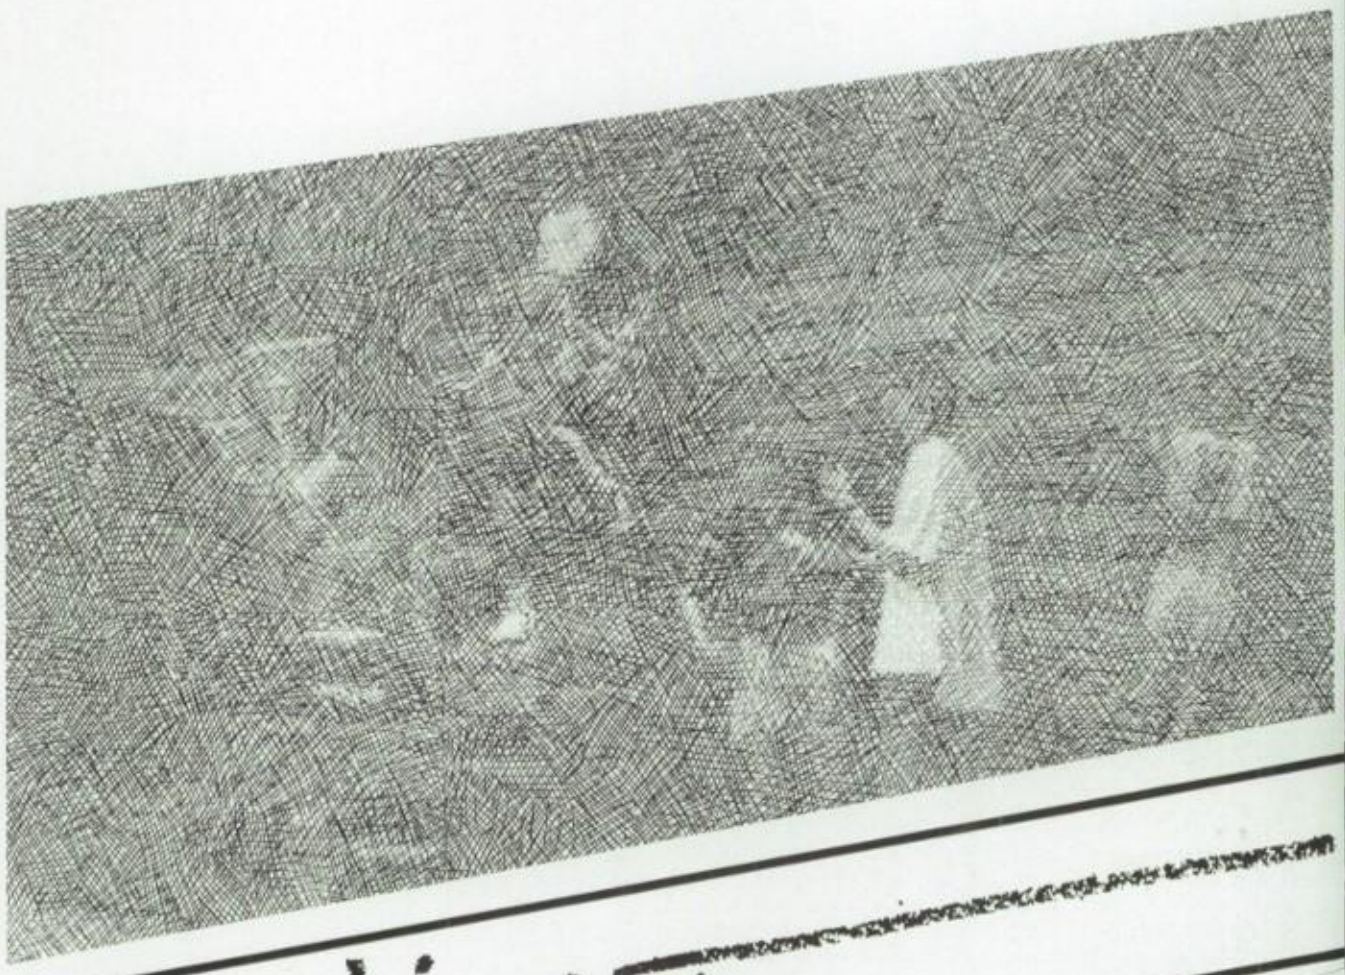
The Smith Choral Department has really brightened our school with the enchanting sound of their voices. They got us off on the right foot for American Education Week. At Christmas, they sang carols that would put any true Eagle in the Christmas Spirit. The choral department works very hard to bring us entertainment and they do not charge admission to their performances. The audiences' sincere appreciation of their talent is enough thanks. The Eagles are proud to have such a wonderful choral department.

Members of the Ensemble prepare to leave school to perform for Rolling Roads Baptist Church. Shown are: Ronnie Liggins, Areatha Smith, Angela Clinton, Amy Tate, Dwight Johnson, and JoJo Gardner.



Athletics

Athletics play a major role at Ben L. Smith. Win or lose,lessons are learned, goals are reached ,and dreams born. An old cliche alludes that "Winning is everything," but here at Ben L. Smith, we know that just isn't true. Athletics teaches us how to get along with our peers, and work together as a unit, a team striving for one united goal. Everyone who makes an effort to contribute to the team's success and concept is a winner. These athletes look forward to the future and the possibility of college or pro teams which they will join, and these athletes will look back one day on the memories of representing Smith High School, the Eagles, the best.

Boys' Soccer Has A Good Season

The Boys' soccer team, under new coach Danny Gaiser, had a good year. They finished the season with a record of five wins, nine losses, and two ties. The team had only six seniors, therefore the futur of Smith's soccer team look very promising. The team was lead by their captains Billy Gilbert, Rob Causey, and Jai Park. Tray Spinks and Steven Bryant were tw freshmen who really had a great year.

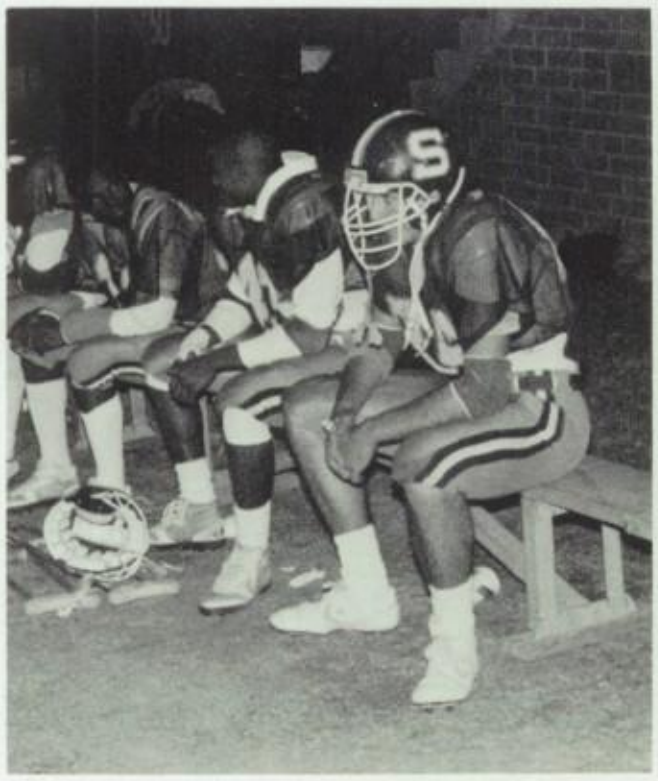
FOOTBALL — A REBUILDING SEASON

Coach Porter gives signs while Moody looks with intensity.

Hal Humble takes a breather.



1987 ushered in a new era for football at Smith High School. When the Eagles began practice in August, they were under the direction of first year head coach David Moody, who was chosen to fill the position vacated last winter when Leland Hughes stepped down.

Under the leadership of Coach Moody, the Eagles improved significantly upon a 1-9 finish in 1986. They went 4-6 and remained in the hunt for a playoff birth until the seasons final two weeks.

Smith posted wins over Southern Guilford (3-0), Dudley (6-0), Glenn (14-3), and North Forsyth (14-6).

The 14-6 victory over North Forsyth was especially sweet since it came on Homecoming.

But maybe the greatest thing that the Eagles achieved in 1987 was renewed team pride. Thanks to the extra efforts of Coach Moody, such as his summer weightlifing program, and his abundant enthusiasm, excitement returned to Smith football.

The seniors of 1987 wish Coach Moody and the Eagles even greater success in 1988!

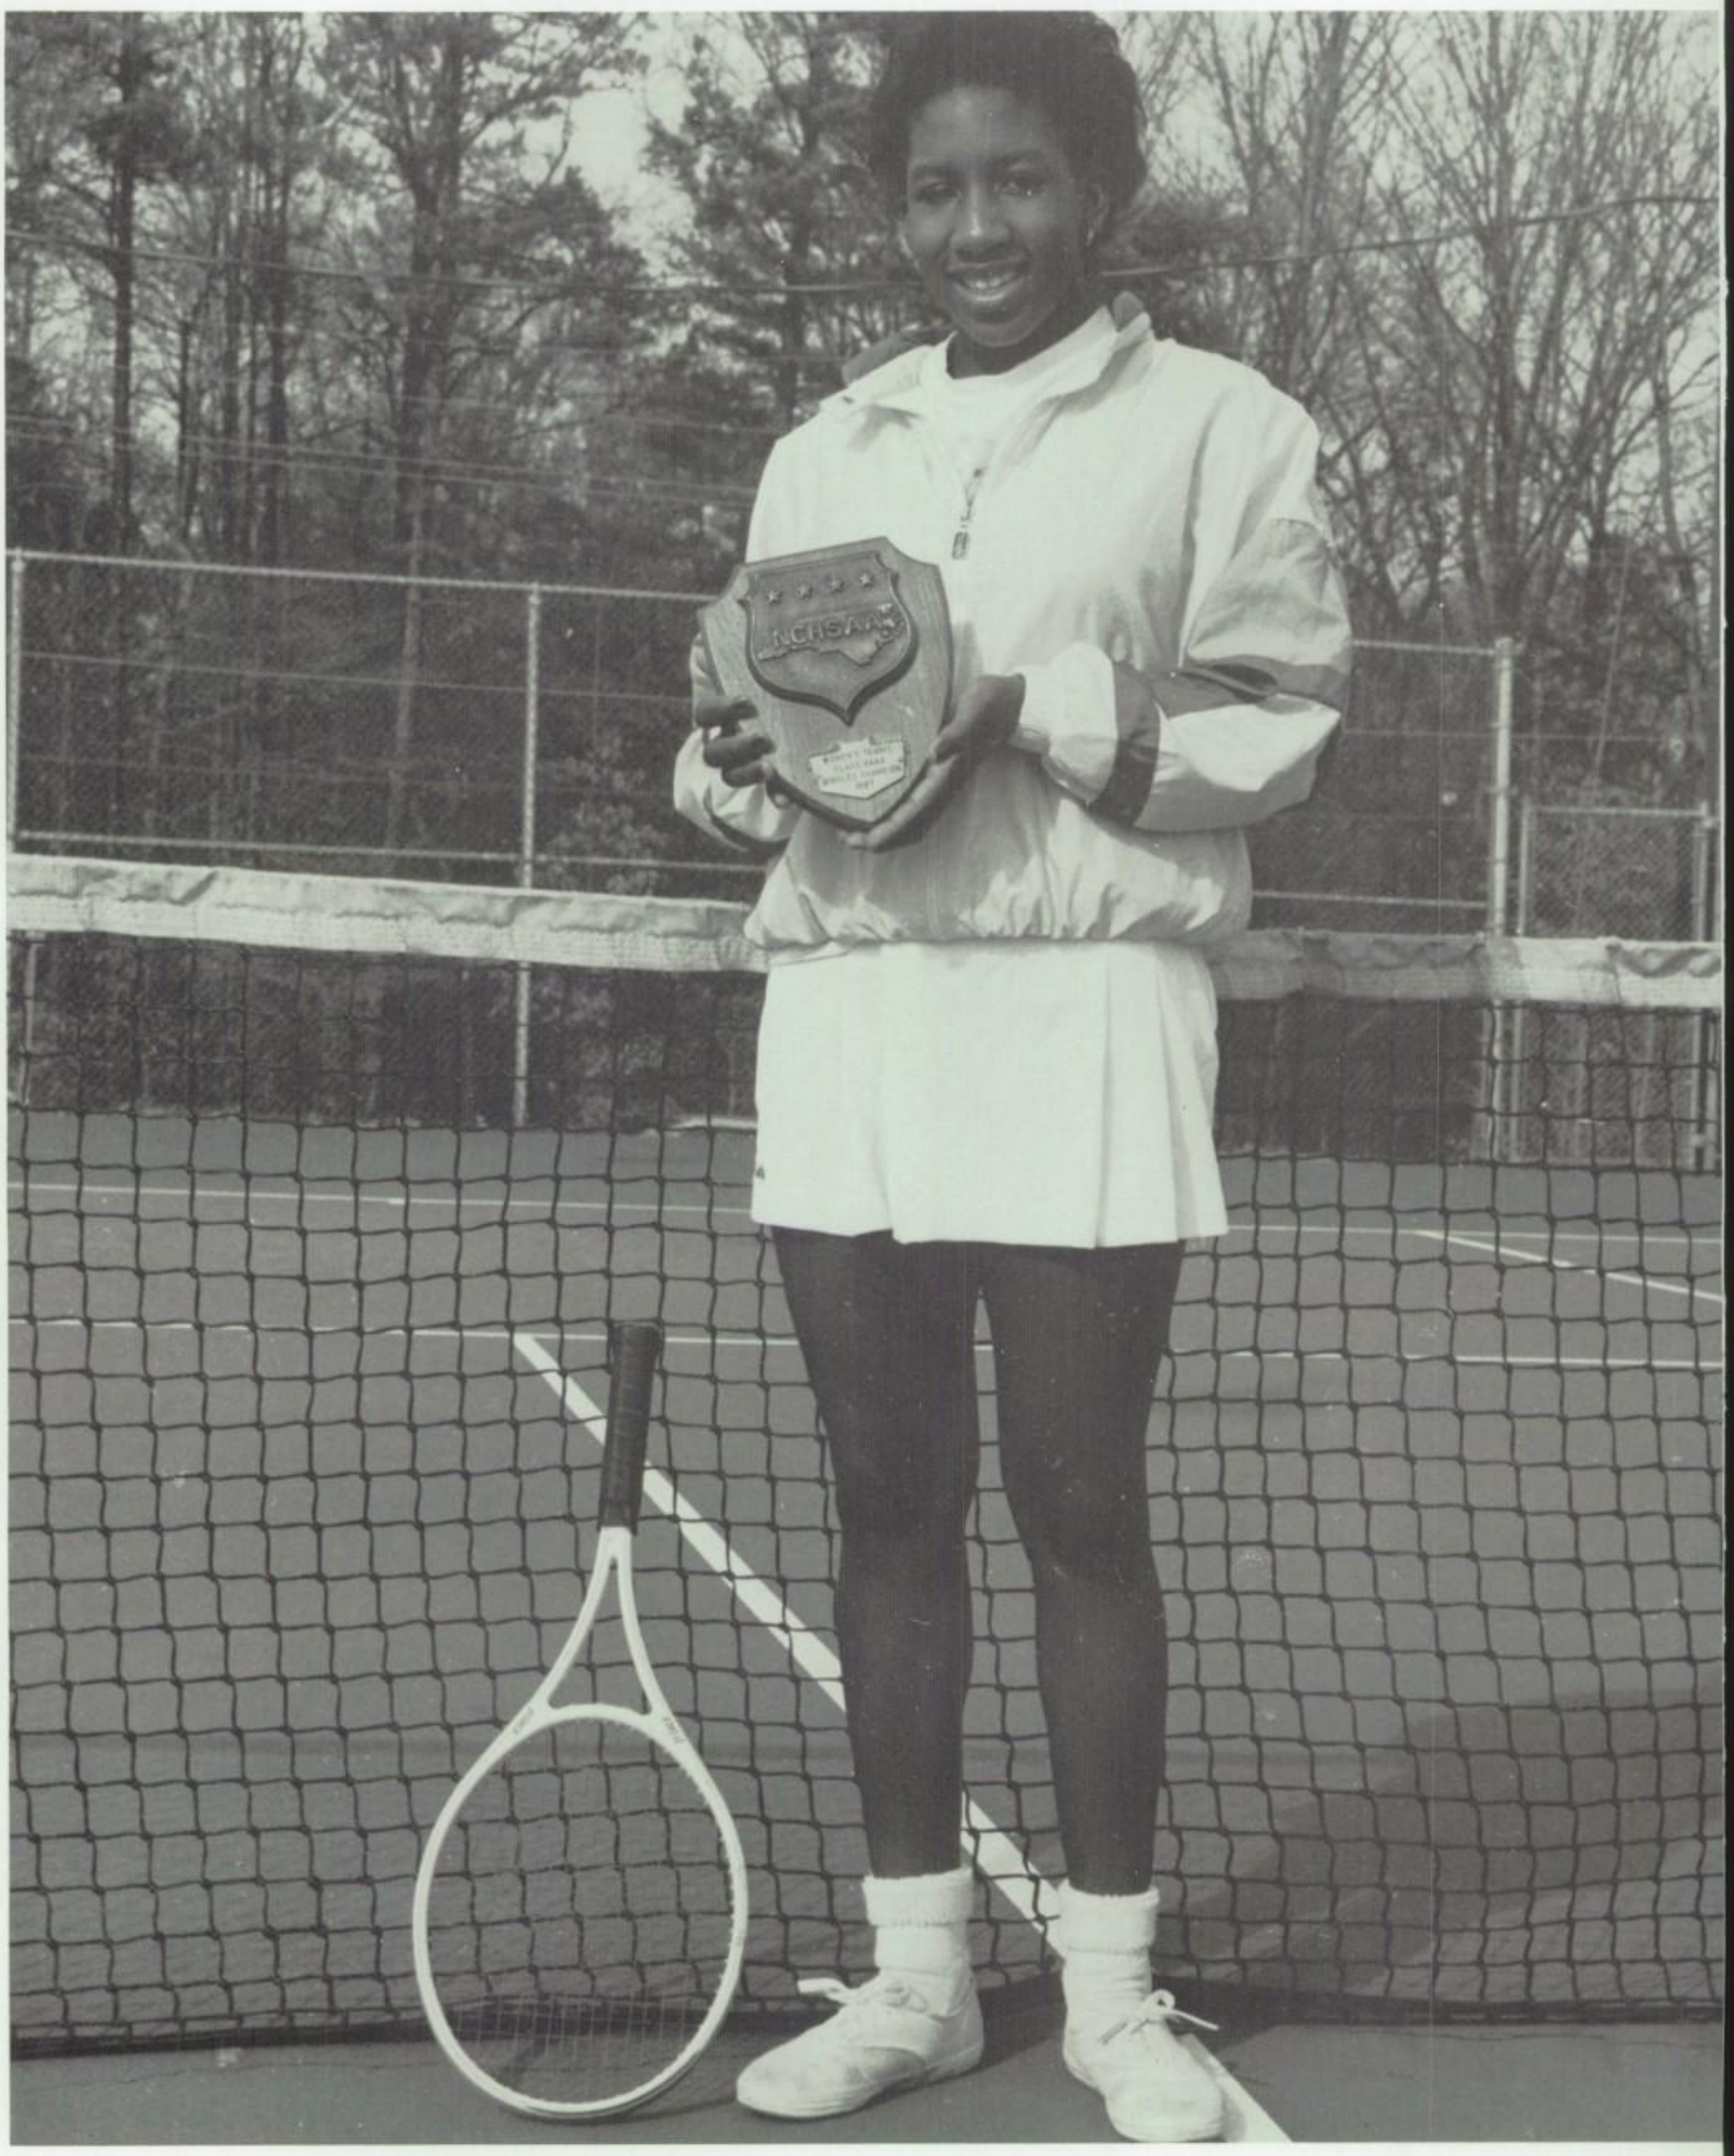
SMITH'S STATE CHAMPION RENIKA SHAW



Ben L. Smith history was made in Chapel Hill this year. Renika Shaw, a 16-year old tennis sensation, defeated Grimsley's Lisa Adelman in straight sets 6-2, 6-4 in the finals of the 1987 North Carolina High School Athletic Association girl's 4-A tennis championship.

Thus Shaw, the tournament's top-seed, brought home Smith High School's first-ever state championship as the School celebrated its Silver Anniversary.

As the score of the championship match would indicate, Shaw's win came quite easily. In fact, this entire season the talented junior has made a habit of making it look easy. Shaw routed all of her opponents during the regular season as she compiled a perfect 11-0 record. Then she rolled through the state tournament in impressive fashion with her only scare coming in the semifinals when she dropped the first set 3-6 to South Mecklenburg's Nori Sie before rallying to win the last two sets and advancing to meet Adelman.

It wasn't the first time that Shaw has squared off against Adelman, either. The two met in the state regionals with Shaw winning that match also. But don't be fooled by the relative ease with which she mows down opponents. Shaw is a diamond in the rough. She has fought her way to North Carolina's top spot and a no. 57 national ranking through a rigorous and turbulent schedule.

Her determination has helped her carry the load of high school and teenhood while she excels on the tennis court.

Renika's journey in tennis began when she was nine years old. For most of the nationally ranked female players that is a late beginning. But the delayed start can be attributed to Renika's first love, soccer. However, through the encouragement of her father, she took the tennis racket in hand... and things took off quickly from there.

Of course, there is the flip side to success. Practice! And no one knows more about the long and unusual hours of work spent between matches than Shaw. She goes year round, putting in most of her time while many of us are still asleep or working afterschool jobs.

Excitement dances across Renika's face as she ponders the prospects of a professional future in tennis. And she talks already as a seasoned veteran. Renika says that there was never a doubt in her mind that she would capture the state title. But, she adds, "Winning the state is not all that big for me since I compete nationally even though it is the biggest win for me in high school tennis."

As far as possible pro stardom, Shaw feels extremely good about her chances. She will participate in more U.S.T.A. (United States Tennis Association) sponsored tournaments, and forego college to attempt the professional ranks.

Indeed, Renika Shaw shows strong signs of future success. She has already made sport's history in a school that produced the likes of Bob McAdoo, Joe and Jeff Bostic, and Vince Evans. Shaw flashes a bright smile when she thinks perhaps one day playing on the same courts as her favorite star, Ivan Landl.

Maybe...just maybe some warm July day Shaw will be on centre court at Wilmbedon slapping a forehand winner past her opponent as NBC sport's analyst Dick Fuberg, perched in his broadcasting booth, exclaims "Oh my!"

VARSITY BOY'S TENNIS: Danny Koeing, Paul Ganim, In Hwan Kim, Todd Deery.

This year's boys' tennis team was one of the most superb of all the high schools. Practice breeds excellence, and the tennis team worked hard to become a great team. With four talented players, the tennis team proved that Smith Eagles are winners. The future also looks bright for our team. Who knows?-maybe one of our Eagles will become the next John McEnroe.

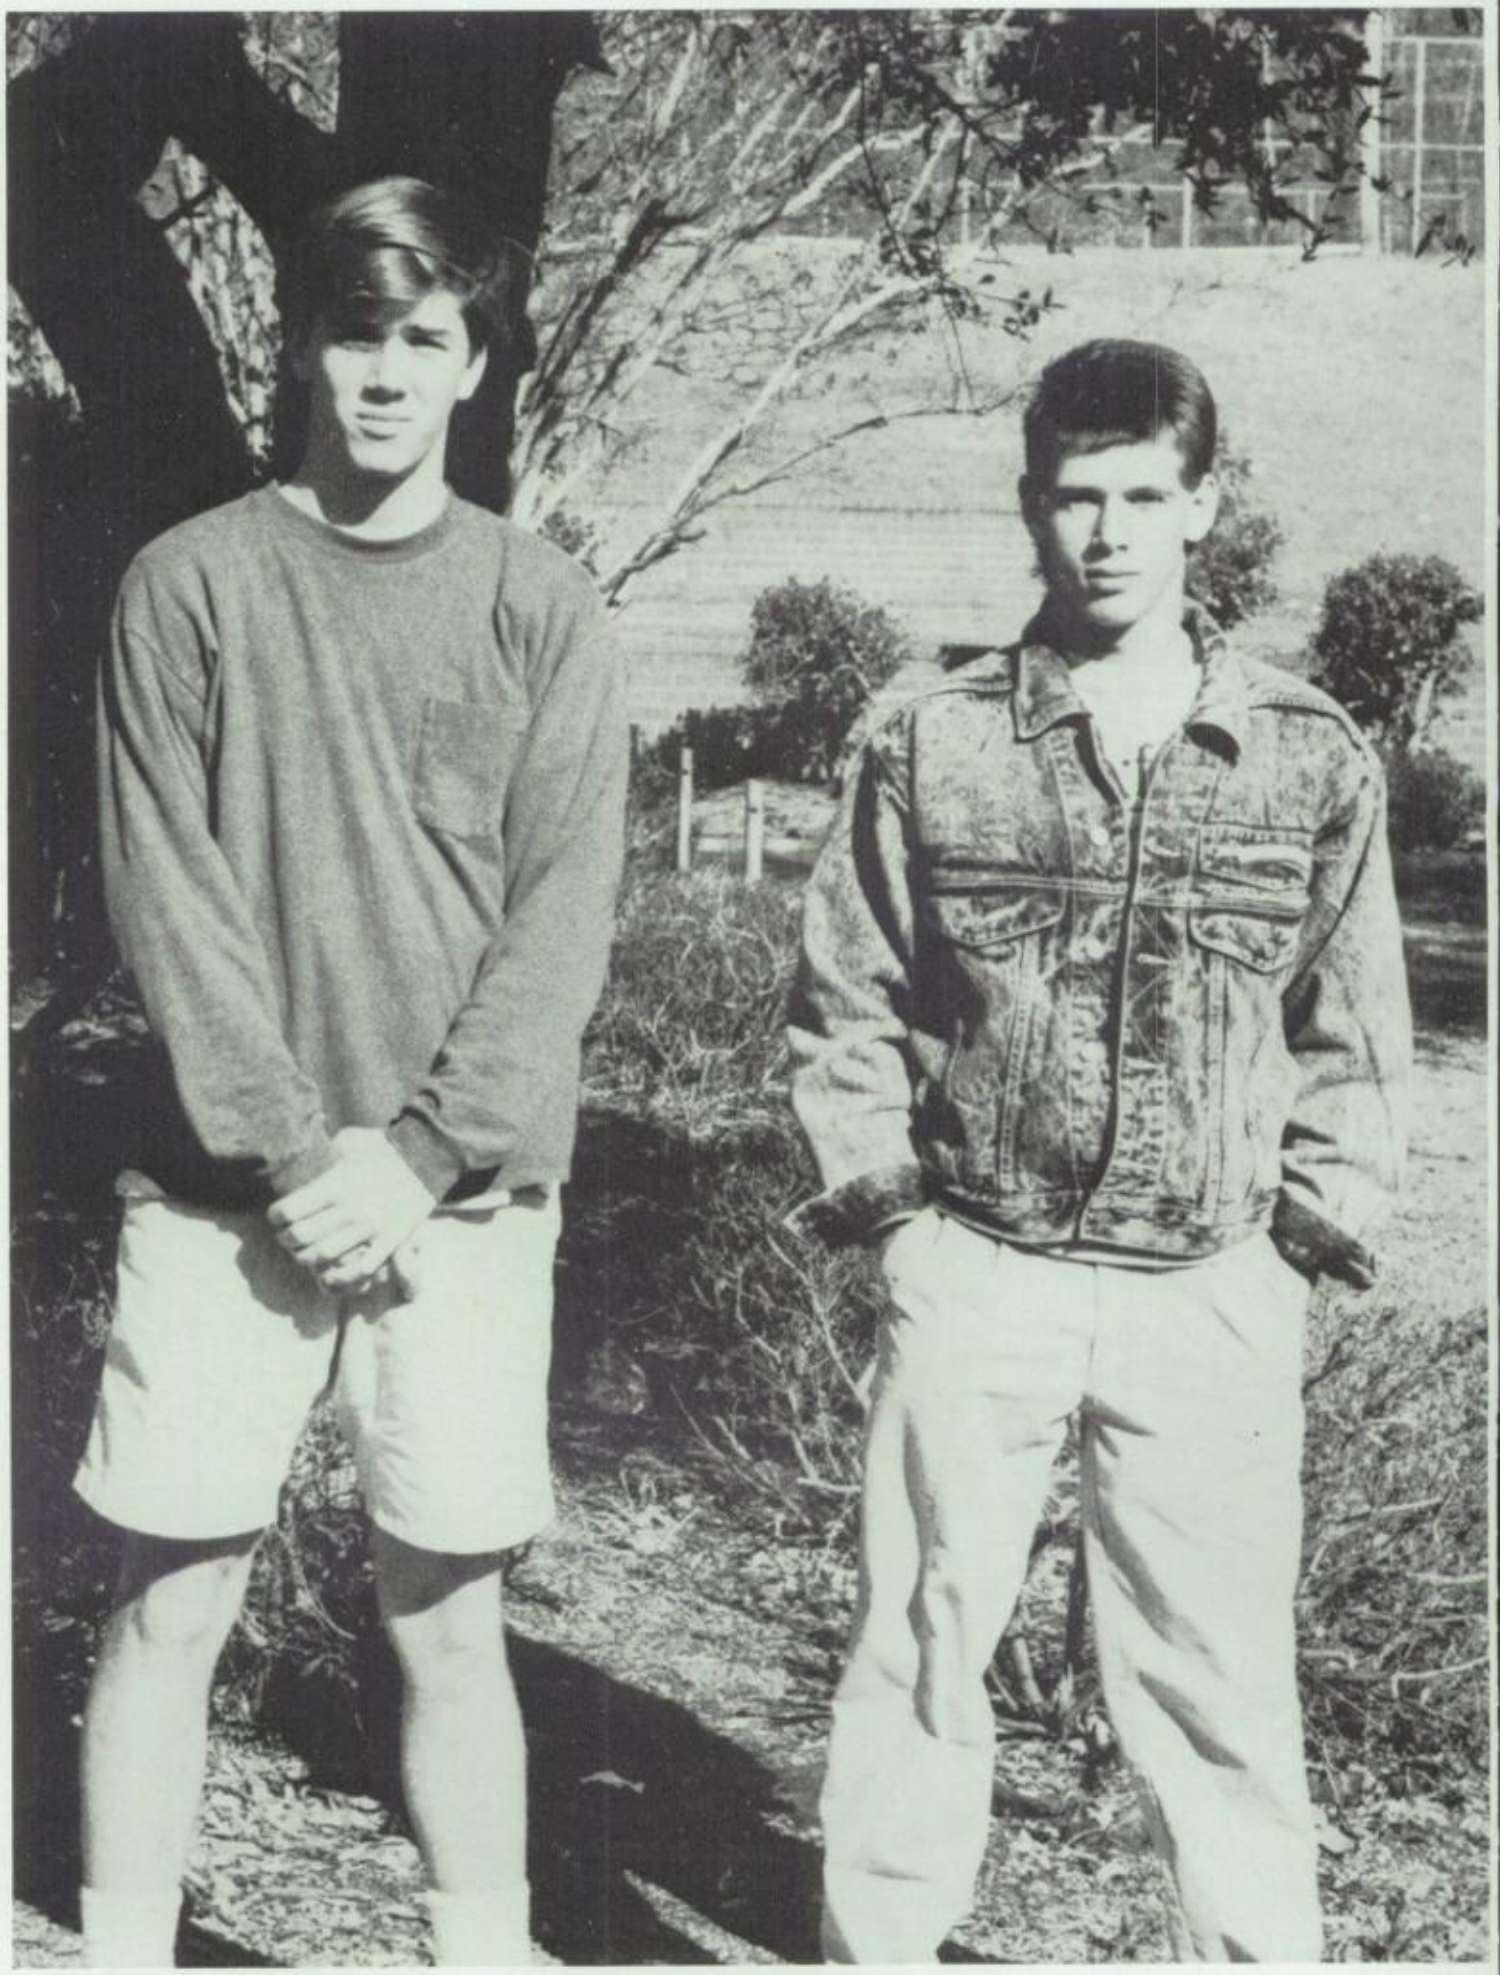
ROLLING ON THE GREEN

G O L F



Scott Henegar and Dean Osborne, Where's your clubs?

Golf is one of the toughest games ever invented. The object of the game is to hit the small white ball into a hole that is no less than two hundred yards away. The game not only takes physical strength but an extremly keen mind, which all the members of the Smith High School's golf team possess. Smith can boast about having one of the best golf teams in the state of North Carolina today. A player who really stood out was Todd Bridges. Todd was one of the few who got to advance to the regional finals. The golf team is a big asset to the Smith Eagles' nest. Smith is really proud of its golf team and Smith hopes that they keep up the good work and their low par.

At one time in the year, the Eagles were 3-0 in the conference play and 7-3 overall. The season wasn't a disappointing one, but there were some tough losses along the way. Stars such as Renee Moore and Sharon Hill were the catalyst for the young Eagles. Renee had a batting average of .640, had ten homeruns and five grandslams. She was also repeat player on the All Conference Team. Sharon had a .625 batting average, and was an All-Conference player. One bright note for the Eagles was that they only lost three seniors. With returnees Renee Moore, Pam Wilson, and Gail Spinks, the Eagles look forward to a strong season which will spell trouble for the Eagle opponents.

VARSITY

Sore muscles, aching feet and long hours were definite characteristics of varsity cheerleaders.

They attended UCA (Universal Cheerleading Association) Camp and this is where all the long hours and hard work paid off. They were awarded a "Key to Spirit" Plaque for Best All-Around Squad. This is the highest honor at any UCA Camp. Our varsity squad received many more awards including: a trophy for "Best Cheer" presented at camp, nine blue "Superior Ribbons," one "Gold Excellent Ribbon," and one "Outstanding Ribbon"-all for performances.

The girls worked hard this year with much dedication and enthusiasm led by their equally enthusiastic and dedicated coach, Mr. Roger Johnson, who was awarded with the nomination of Coach of the Year. And this year, there was a new tradition started at Smith...that's right, Smith had its first two male cheerleaders! This confirms the fact-EAGLES ARE #1!!!!!!!!

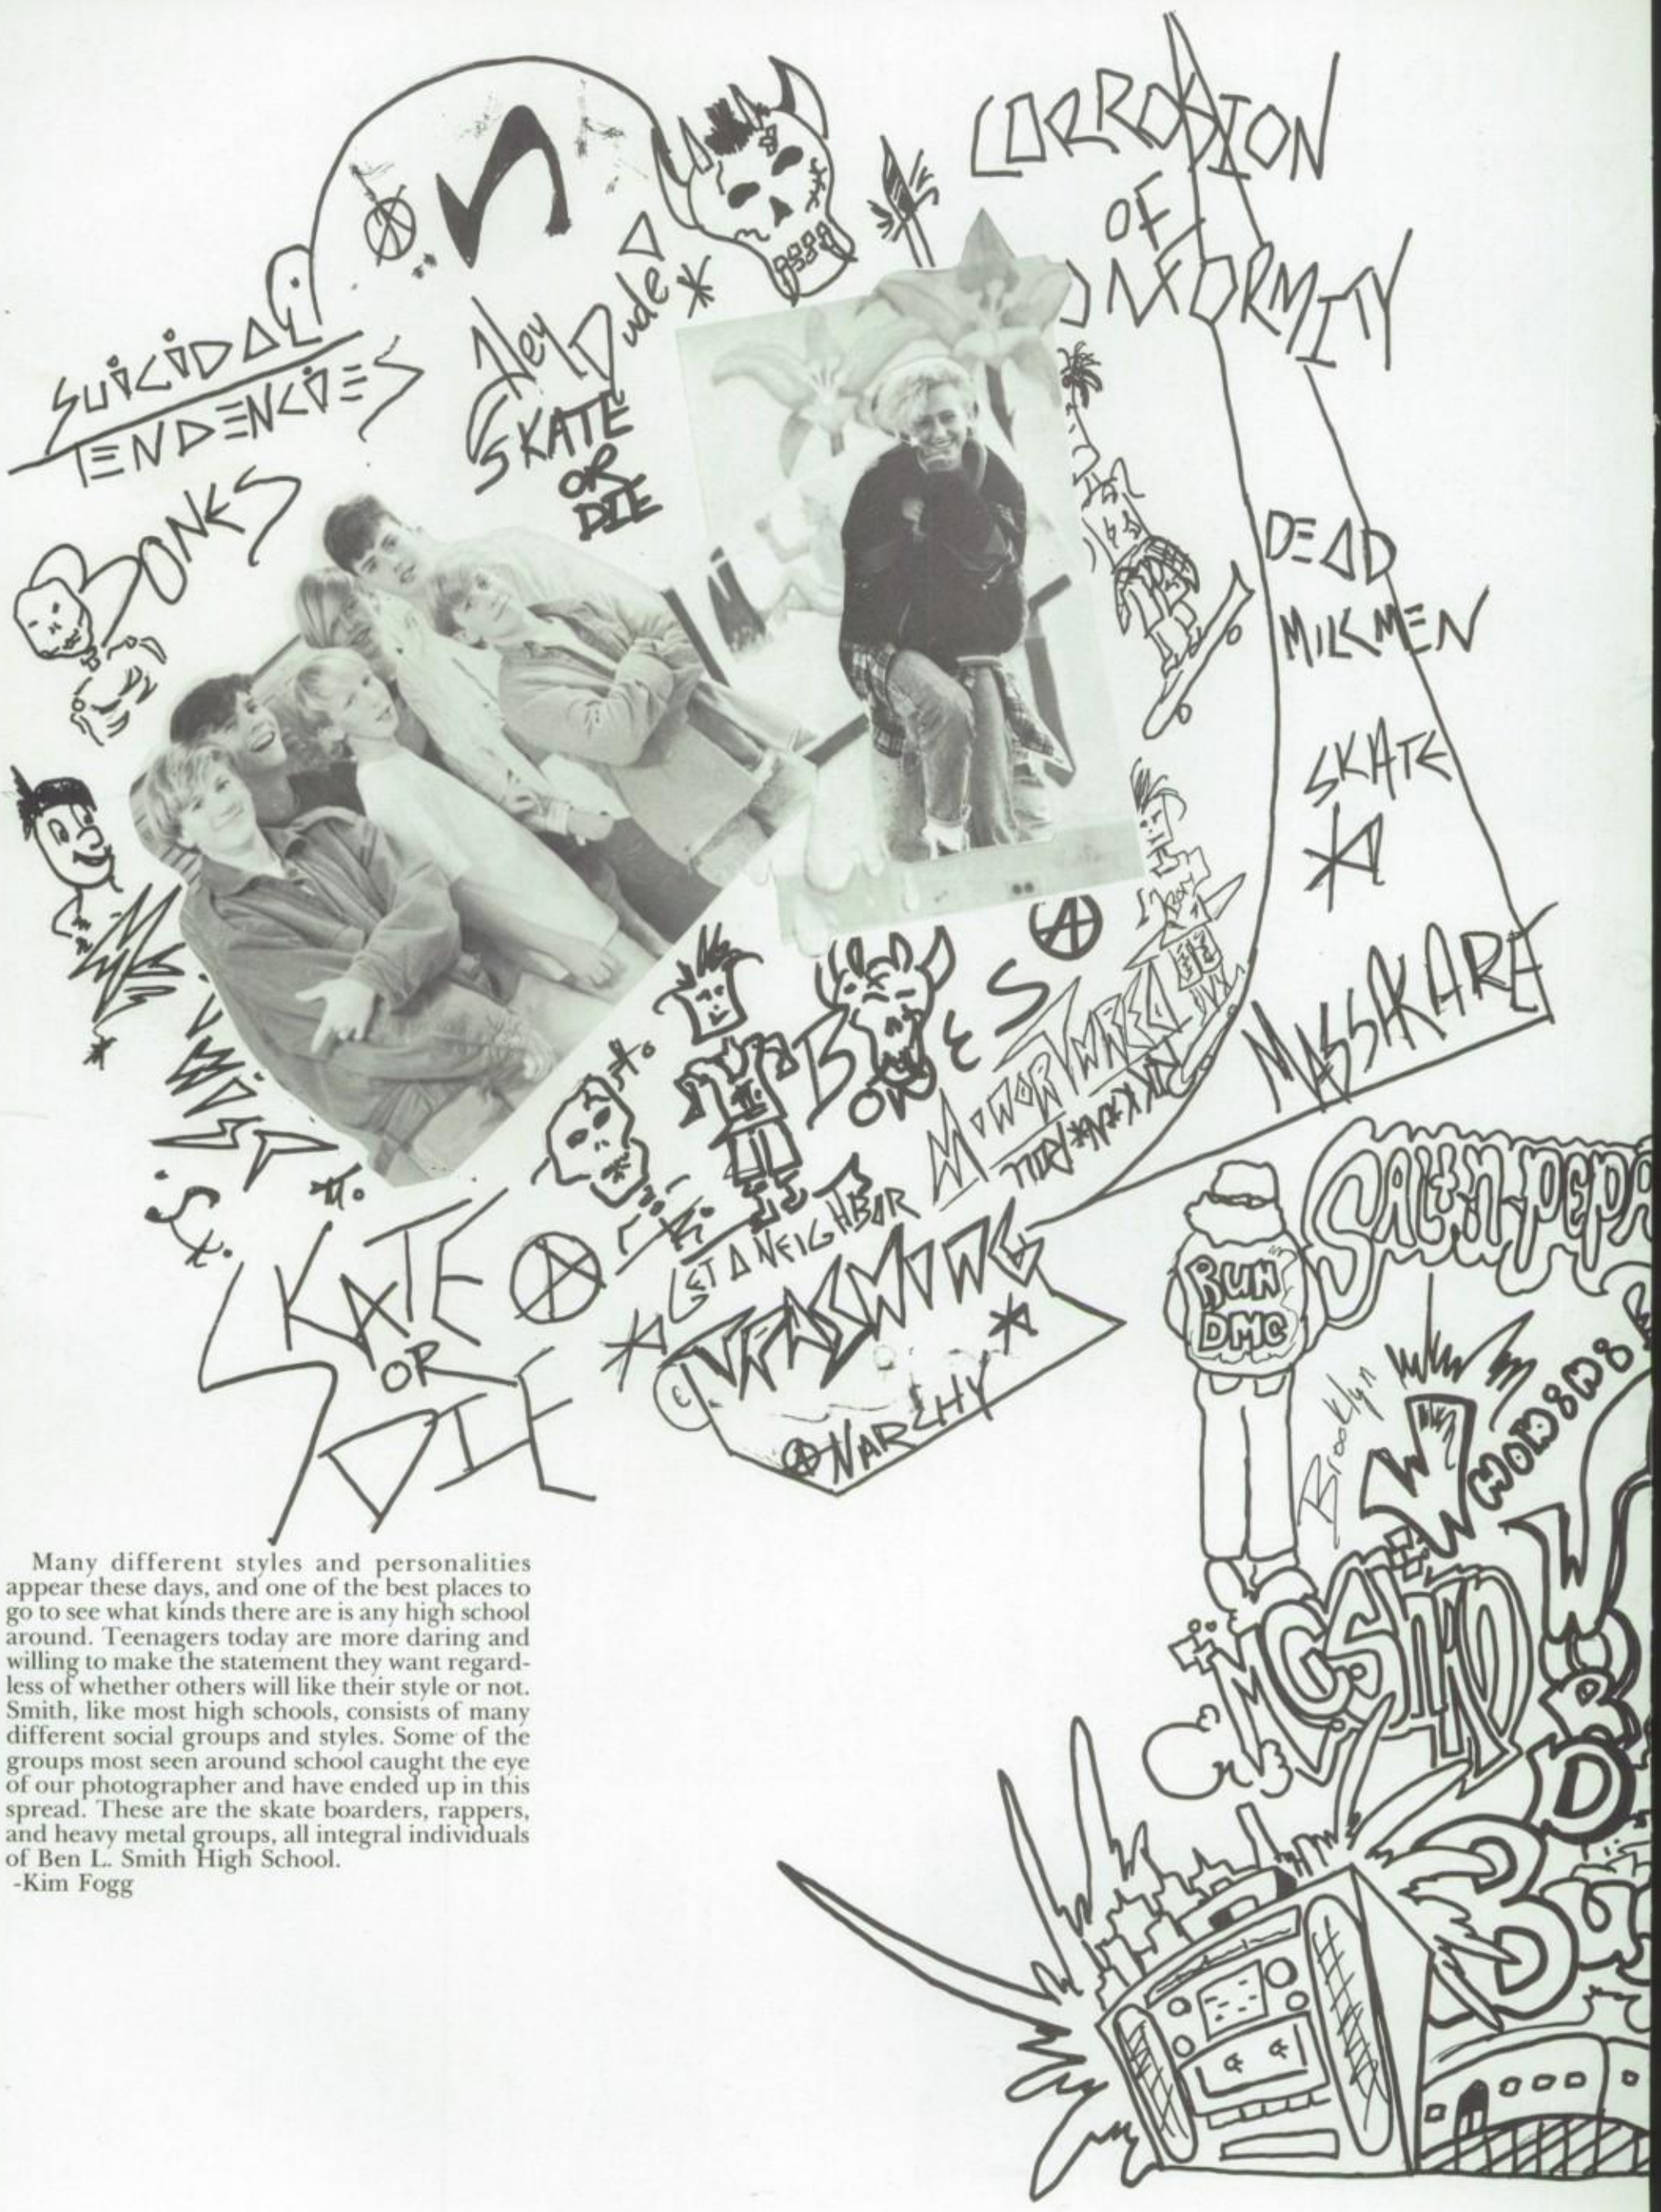
Go Eagles!



Many different styles and personalities appear these days, and one of the best places to go to see what kinds there are is any high school around. Teenagers today are more daring and willing to make the statement they want regardless of whether others will like their style or not. Smith, like most high schools, consists of many different social groups and styles. Some of the groups most seen around school caught the eye of our photographer and have ended up in this spread. These are the skate boarders, rappers, and heavy metal groups, all integral individuals of Ben L. Smith High School.

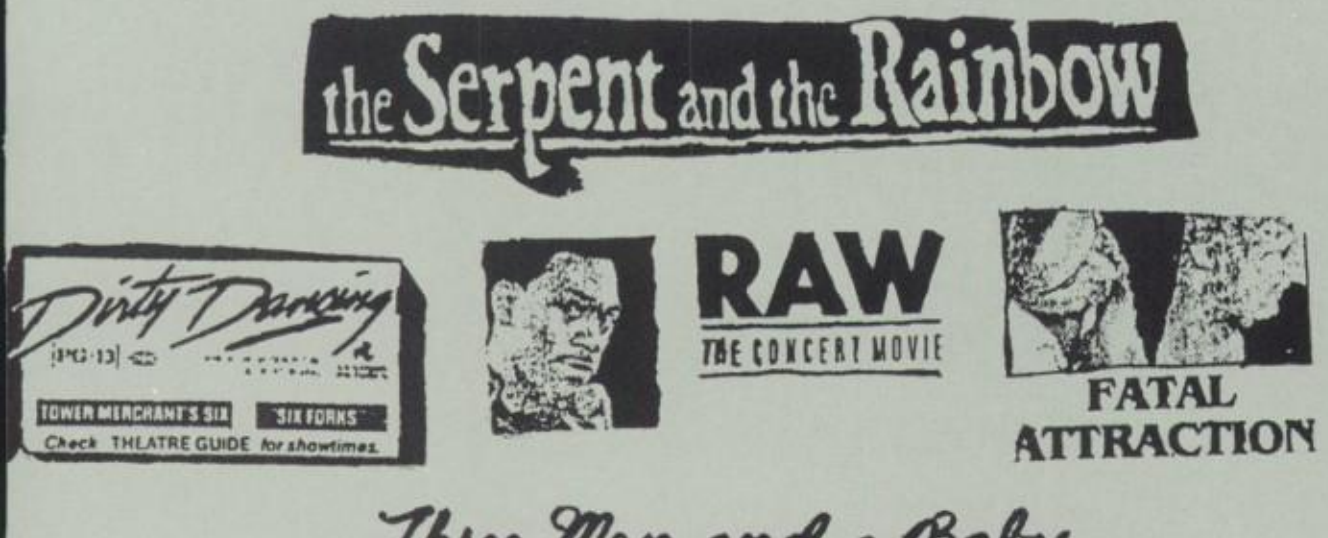
Now That's Entertainment!



This school year Smith students' favorite types of entertainment were movies and music. The price of these two forms of entertainment has risen, but that has not stopped teen Eagles from indulging. Movies cost $4.50 per person. The approximate expense once you get there is an additional $8.00 to buy yourself and your date popcorn and a coke. Purchasing an album isn't cheap either. The average cost is $10.00, and more and more teens are interested in the new C.D.s which cost an average of $16.00 each.

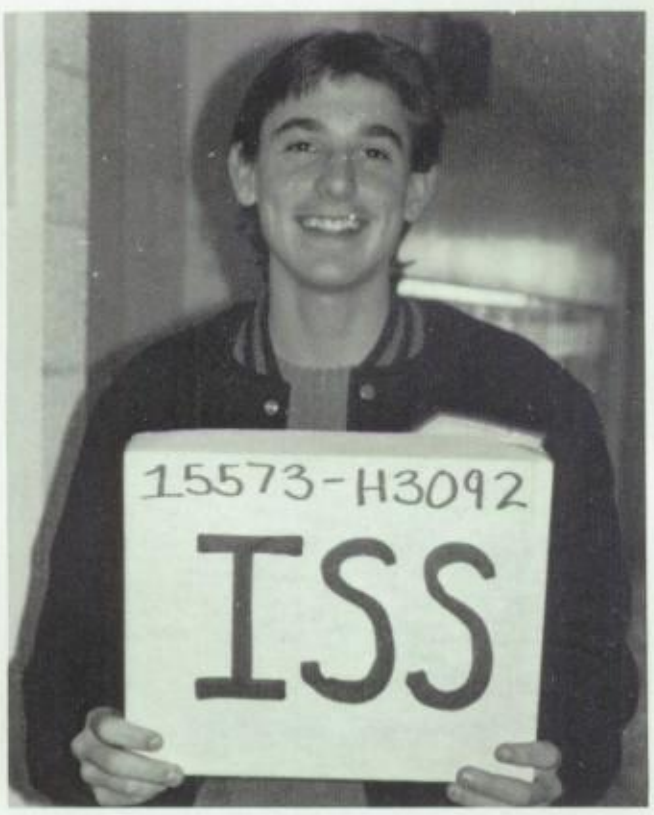
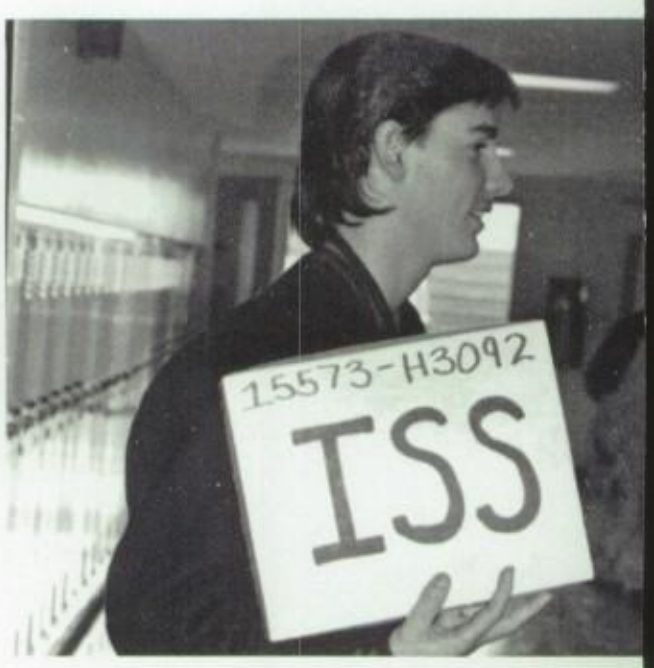
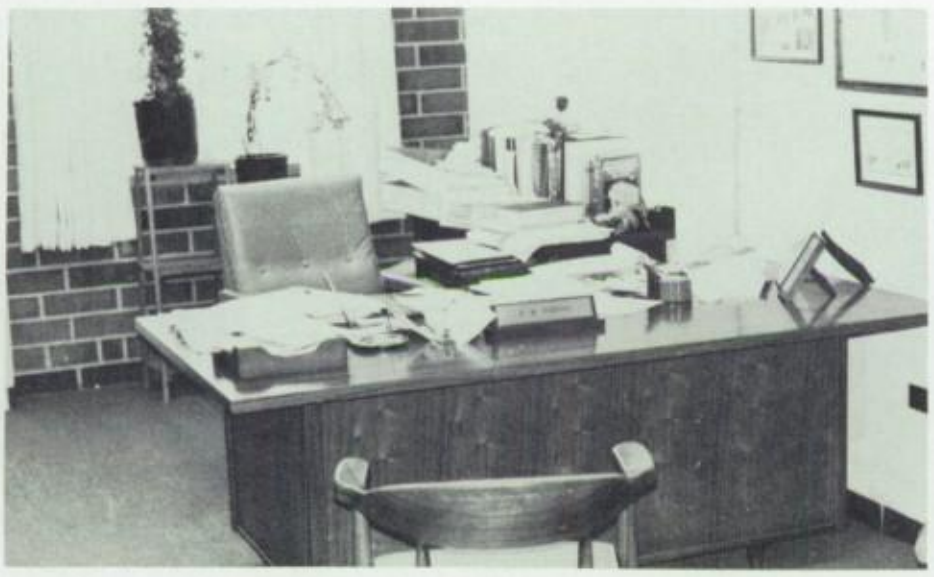
DON'T DO



IF YOU CAN'T DO THE TIME



THE CRIME



I had this awful dream the other night! I woke up in a cold sweat, shivering and shaking. My worst nightmare had come true; I was called to the pricipal's office. There it was, Mr. Higgin's desk sitting right in front of me. "What am I doing here," I asked myself. "What did I do?"

I imagined so many horrible things while sitting there waiting. I saw myself being finger printed; I heard them pronounce sentence; I was photographed while holding a sign with numbers on it. Did I skip school? Did I get in a fight? Did I walk in class one too many times late? What did I do?

I heard steps approaching. Mr. Higgins came in the room and sat down in the big chair behind the desk. I anxiously awaited his first word. He opened his mouth, and a word formed on his lips, and suddenly I sat up in bed and said "I didn't do anything!" My mother came in and asked me what I was talking about. I quickly told her it was nothing. Immediately, I got up and dressed for school.

When I arrived at school, I passed Mr. Higgins in the hall and he smiled at me. As I walked towards my first class, I had the strangest feeling of relief.

WHERE WILL I BE

I, Ashlyn White, am not sure what I'll be doing but I know it won't have anything to do with math! Hopefully, I'll have already graduated from college and I'll be able to go back to Smith and show all those teachers and counselors that I DID do something with my life.

I, Brenda Thompson, plan to be living a wonderful life away from home, and working with people who need a friend.

I, Amanda Smith, plan to be married to Luther Dawkins, Jr. ,and to be living in Dallas, Texas, and to practice law.

I, Tina Dobbins, hope to be very successful in my career and also to have a successful marriage. In other words, I will have achieved my goals and have a secure and stable life.

I, Amy Williams, will be working towards my own television show or it will be already in progress in the top ratings.

I, Milton Moe "De" Davis, will be rich and famous, and living in a mansion and driving a different car every week.

I, Scott Henegar, will be flying commercial airliners or on the management board at some winter resort in Colorado.

I, Janet Rivera, will become Mrs. James Shaw. We'll live in a house on a lot of land. Jim and I will own several dogs. We will have one or two children.

I, Penny Pegram, can see myself working for the Optical Place, married to Ronnie Rumple, and living in Forest Oaks.

I, Tammy Pokrioka, can see myself happily married to Tim Scott. We'll be living in West Virginia.

I, Billy Pennix, will hopefully be out of college and living on my own, and also driving a VW Cabriolet.

I, Dan Hardin, plan to be working on a job, making fair money.

I, Paul Harvell, plan to own my own business preferibly my own machine shop. The name will be "Harvell's Metal Circus."

I, Gretchen Robinson, hope to be very successful in whatever career I choose. I will probably be single and establishing ownership of a house.

I, Candy Sampson, hope to be happily married to Patrick with children, living in a big white house with lots of money.

I, Randy Shiem, hope to be a doctor, have two Siberian tigers, and live in a big house.

I, Tim Sheppard, hope I will have graduated from Wake Forest University with a law degree. I'll be living in California or Florida, and will be a successful lawyer.

I, Maggie Frawley, will be a CPA or in business, earning lots of "mula." My friends and I better be as close as we are now.

I, Mary Frawley, will still be at home, cleaning up after my parents; like now. I'll be working in a fast food restaurant, and trying to work through college.

I, Angie Mundy, will be driving along Sunset Boulevard in my 1996 Camaro, headed toward the beach for fun in the sun.

I, Pam Ring, don't know where I'll be or what I'll be doing. I only hope that when I get there I'll be happy.

I, La Monte Dunlap, will be taking care of my family and recording records.

I, Traci Willie, plan to be a journalist, living in a renovated fire station for my home, and basically just having a great time with my life.

I, Rahn K. Willis, plan on being the best I can be in the career I choose.

TEN YEARS FROM NOW?

I, Tabatha Wolfe, am not really sure because with my life there is really no telling, but whatever I choose to do with my life, I'm sure it will be worthwhile. I, too, will make the very best of what I have.

I, Kevin Williams, will be a computer engineer. I will play the stock market. I will probably be a bachelor.

I, Tim Wright, hope to have a small mechanic business.

I, Tony Wilson, will be working.

I, Chris Winfree, haven't really decided what I want as a career. Maybe it will be music or maybe I'll be doing something respectable. Hopefully, I won't be married!

I, David Wilson, will either go to college or work.

I, Heather Patterson, will be a school teacher, married to Dr. Jai Park and pregnant with our first baby-a boy.

I, Jai Park, will be a Duke graduate, have a dental practice, drive a black Porsche 930, and be married to Heather.

I, Sherry Dunford, will be married to Steve Loy, have maybe two kids. I probably will be working on a computer in a small or big company.

I, Angela M. Davis, plan to work for a television station and publish my own magazine or either be active in the armed services.

I, Cornelius (Neal) Davis, hope to be married, with two kids, and working as a certified public accountant.

I, Barabara Rankin, plan to ba a Radioligist. I will be working at Cone Hospital and married to Kevin Cummings.

I, Sophan San, plan to be a nurse in 10 years. I want to learn more about taking care of people.

I, Mark Rainey, plan to be on my own with a college degree in Business of Mechanical Engineering. Hopefully, I will be living in South Carolina and ready to settle down and start a family.

I, Kelly Thacker, see myself opening for Bon Jovi with my own band in which I play the drums, or being a systems analyst in some big company.

Where Will I Be?

I, Patrick N. Graham, will be employed at Bell Laboratories as a leading Materials Chemist on the forefront of technology.

I, Andrew H. Wray...Qui moi?... Well..., After earning my Doctorate in High Energy-Particle Physics, I will be Director of Research in the Physics Department of a Major University anxiously awaiting the data from the latest experiment at the by now completed Super Conducting Super Collider, a 52 mile cicumference patricle accelerator able to obtain energies in excess of 20 TEV, but confident that the theories of my recent earth shattering work Quarks Parts,, will be confirmed.

I, Ty Swaringer, will be out of college and beginning a successful career. I also hope to be starting a family at that time.

I, Nicole Patterson, plan to be practicing law and happily involved with someone special.

I, Michelle D. Phelps, will be married to a very successful and loving man. I will have two beautiful children. Residing in Germany or Japan, I will be employed as a Military Police or Juvenille Justice Officer with a salary of about $20,000 a year. My self description will be about 130 pounds, 5 feet 7 inches tall and Bad to the Bone.

I, S. Brian Massey, will have my masters degree in Spanish from UNCW, and be doing some kind of work in Central or South America.

I, Nikki S. Martinez, will be working for the government as a translator. I will speak Spanish, German, and Russian fluently. I will live at Virginia Beach and my favorite animal with be with me...a tiger. I will have learned to tame the wild beast. I will be a very successful woman!

I, Denise Caison, plan to be married to David Herr, living in a big house by a lake and teaching elementary school.

Where will I be?
What will happen to me?
Will I be rich?
Or maybe be poor?
Will you be there
Standing by my side
Sharing my dreams
My thoughts, my world
Will you now?

In the big old world
Is there a place for me?
Will I find it,
Will I even know
When I find it?
What is out there
What is waiting,
Can you see?

I look into the unknown
I can't see a thing.
It kind of scares me
What do you see?
I thought I knew the answers,
But now I'm not so sure.
Can I stay a while longer
Until I know the way?
What do you say?

I understand,
I know.
There's no looking back now,
I'm walking out the door.
I see millions of stars
And possibilities far and wide,
I'm standing on my own now,
I'm walking away,
Hello future, good bye yesterday.

I'm not scared any longer,
I'm standing straight and tall,
I'm nervous and excited
The world is mine to own.
Goodbye old school,
I'm leaving you behind
There's something out there
Somewhere out there,
That I must go and find.

SOMEWHERE OUT THERE...

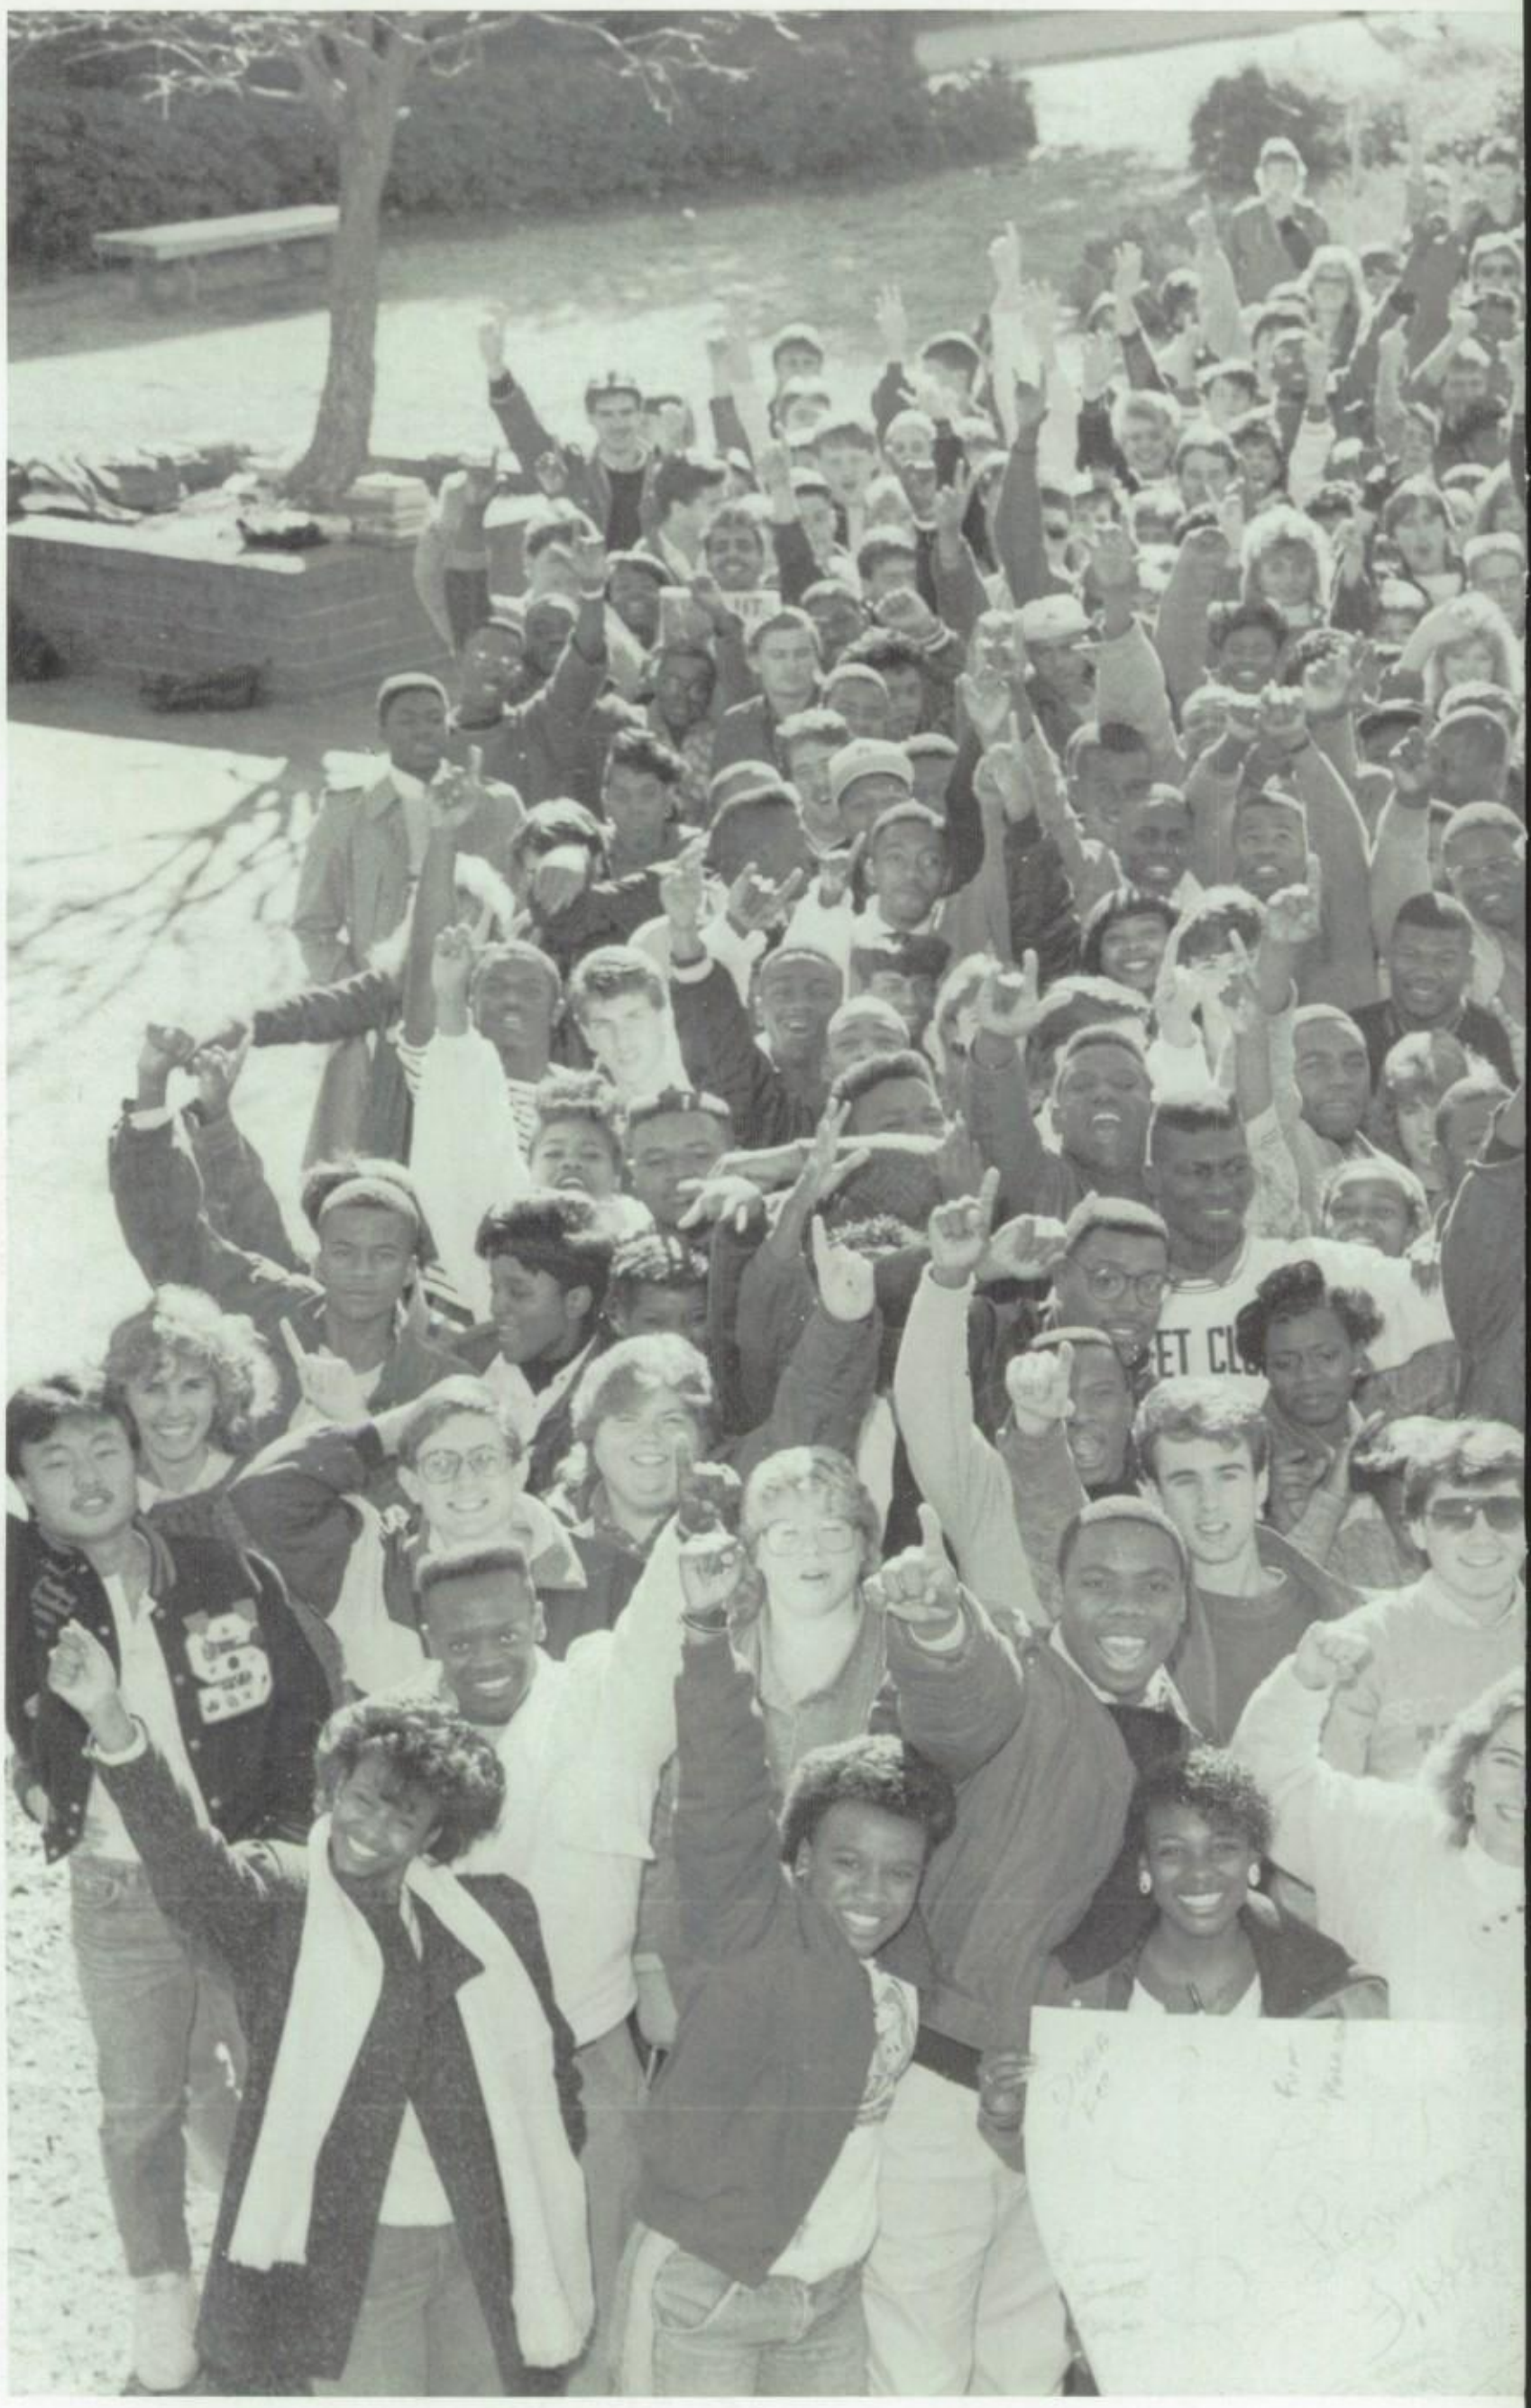
GOOD BYE



CLASS OF 88

Dear Fellow Eagles:

Working on the 25th Anniversary Aquila has certainly been the best possible way for us to culminate and enhance our years at Ben L. Smith. As we have tried to recapture the special moments of the 1987-88 school year, as well as the first 25 years of Eagle history, we have come to appreciate our school and what it has given to us. Producing a yearbook is no easy task, but with the support and help of Mrs. Reddick, the staff, and the students, it has definitely been worth it.

While we took pictures of basketball games, watched the football team improve every Friday night, and wrote about all the clubs here at Smith, we had an advantage over others. Although it was hard work, we had to think about Smith, what it stands for, and what the school is involved in. We've learned how the school has changed from having a gravel parking lot to being right in the middle of "all the places to be." It's impossible to put down everything that happened in this one school year, but we believe we have done our best. Some photographs and thoughts are universal; it doesn't really matter who the people in the pictures are, because most of us can say we have been there before. There are situations in which we say, "I remember when that happened." There are pictures of us and friends we never want to forget.

Everyone's faces on graduation will be imprinted on our memories forever. Looking over the thoughts people have of what they will be doing ten years from now makes us wonder what the future does actually hold for us, and it gives us a determination to stay as close as we are now. While we now think the music our parents listen to is ancient, twenty years from now, we will hear a song that will bring us right back to 1988. Now however, we are still caught up in the hours of practice to earn that invaluable letter to put on a Smith letterman's jacket. We are wearing our girlfriend's or boyfriend's class ring. We are going to the baseball games and out to eat with friends. We are getting ready for graduation and the trip to Myrtle Beach, not to mention the exciting life ahead of us. We are making friendships that will last a lifetime. We are in the process of making memories and dreams. We're making history as well. This year, we're celebrating the first 25 years of Smith High School, but the class of 2018 will be writing about us and how we were. Friends will never be forgotten, and especially those from school. After all, we are a close family of Eagles who have flown together for twenty-five years. This year however, we have flown the highest ever.

Also this year, there were freezing cold nights at football games. There were term papers we battled after we had procrastinated. There were substitute teachers we laughed at. There were girlfriends and boyfriends we took to the prom. There were friends we went to lunch with everyday. There was that special teacher or coach who made us go the extra mile. As Editors of the 1988 Aquila, we have tried to put all that down on paper and do it in a manner such that all Eagles will remember this as being one fabulous year. However, each of us will have an individual memory that is uniquely special for us. For the two of us, it will be a year's worth of work on the 1988 Aquila.

Ashlyn White

Mike,
I guess I decided to sign your yearbook. Even though you are only a sophomore! You're a really nice person and I hope ya never change. Well... maybe not. You are a little, just a little strange! Nah, I don't think so. Anyway, I'll see ya next year! Maybe you'll be taller. Who knows! Have a good or great (you pick) summer!

Nyke,

It's been nice knowing you.

Shanaz

NO, Just kidding! You really are a nice kid. Although sometimes you got on my nerves at lunch, I'm glad we've stayed friends. Have a great summer. See ya next year when I'll be a senior.

P/F,

Shanaz

Hey "mikey"!

Its been nice knowing you. You're a very sweet person and enjoyed chasing 3rd pd with you. I hope you have a nice Summer and I'll see u next year. Keep Smiling like you always do and Stay Out of Trouble this Summer.

Love ya,

Mike
Hi sweetie I'm sorry I had to leave you by yourself, when this all happened. Anyhow what's up? What's your license number? But what I want to know is how you get a wonderful (& silly) person like you a nice Summer. Have a wonderful sweet Summer

Love ya lots.

Mike,

What's up?! Not much here. You are a crazy person. I'm not sure about you. I'm glad I met you though. I'm sorry Scott is so hard on you. But its his job. Maybe someday we'll be closer friends and you'll straighten out. Maybe we can "get up" sometime this summer. I hope next year you'll remember us as your a junior. Alway remember these days. "The Glory Days." Have a nice Summer.

My Dearst Mike.

God, you so cute. & I love you to death.

Youve always been a real sweetHeart. And Before the year is over I want to give you a Big Hug and a kiss. I really love you, alot! And I'll really miss you alot too. Your so speacial to me. Hopefully we can spent some time together this summer. You always had the cutest ass when we stood at attention in ROTC! I really enjoyed being in ROTC with you. Thanks for being there!

I'll miss you!

Lots of Love,
